UK court formally approves Assange's extradition to US

A London court on Wednesday sent WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange's extradition order to UK home secretary Priti Patel to take final call

With this, Assange, wanted in the US over the alleged leak of classified documents related to the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, has moved one step closer to being extradited to the US

However, if Patel signs off on the order, Assange can appeal in the High Court

Similarly, fugitive Vijay Mallya was cleared for extradition to India in 2019 by the then UK home secretary Sajid Javid. However, he still remains in the UK thanks to purported ongoing "confidential legal process"

UK is reportedly considering giving political asylum to Mallya

Bulldozers pause in riot-hit Jahangirpuri after SC fiat

Court orders status quo; to hear the matter today; concrete and temporary structures razed

'WHY PUNISH THE ENTIRE COMMUNITY?'

Shop owners whose buildings were demolished, claimed the NDMC did not give them prior notice. "If you (authorities) want to punish, then punish the accused who have been arrested. Why are you punishing the whole community?," Mohd Rahman, whose shop was razed, said | P9

PRATHMA SHARMA & ANKITA UPADHYAY @New Delhi

BULLDOZERS were back in play against alleged rioters, this time in Delhi, till the Supreme Court's status quo order was officially communicated to the North Delhi Municipal Corporation's demolition team in Jahangirpuri around quarter past noon on Wednesday.

'Bulldozer justice' against alleged rioters was first delivered in Madhya Pradesh and replicated in Gujarat before it was initiated in New Delhi.

While the demolition squad with heavy police protection had already begun action in Jahangirpuri, the matter was mentioned by senior advocate Dushyant Dave before a Supreme Court bench headed by Chief Justice N V Ramana.

"...The drive is unconstitutional. Unauthorised demolition is taking place in Jahangirpuri where riots took place. No notice was served or reply sought," he told the apex court while mentioning a plea filed by Jamiat Ulama-I-Hind.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal mentioned another Jamait plea on the larger issue of demolition of residential or commercial property as a punitive measure in various parts of the country without following due process.

Despite the bench ordering status quo and posting the matter for urgent hearing by a day, the bulldozers went on razing the alleged encroachments.

Dave had to mention the matter again before the bench around noon saying the demolition was on despite its orders, before the court directed communicating the status quo through the secretary-general of the court to the concerned authorities.

It was CPM leader Brinda Karat who rushed to the spot and stood in front of a bulldozer with a hard copy of the Supreme Court order before the drive came to a grinding halt. The clock read close to 12.15 pm. By then the operation had gone on for about two-and-a-half hours. Among other several structures torn down was the gate of a mosque.

The action drew a wave of condemnation. "At least the Supreme Court and its order should not be bulldozed," Brinda Karat told reporters.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi called it "a demolition of India's constitutional values" while urging Prime Minister Narendra Modi to switch off the "bulldozers of hate".

Hyderabad MP and AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi tried visiting Jahangirpuri but was stopped by the police. As for the BJP-ruled North Delhi Municipal Corporation, it said the demolition around a 2 km stretch was part of a routine exercise.

CM: Panel to look at works of over ₹50 cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A high-level committee, with a retired high court judge as chairman and technical and financial experts as members, will be appointed within a week to look into sanctioning of works above Rs 50 crore, said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai here on Wednesday.

The committee, constituted under the Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurements Act, will be appointed as there were allegations recently that contractors have to give a "commission" to get the works sanctioned. The government has issued the orders for constituting the committee with an aim to stop such illegalities, he added. The committee will operate within a time-frame and look into estimation of projects to detect any padding up of costs, he added.

Bommai said he directed senior officials, including deputy commissioners, not to take up works where only oral orders have been issued, and if such works are taken up, concerned authorities will be held responsible.

On fears of power shortage, he said, "The state has surplus power, but the problem is with improper transmission and distribution in many areas." Around 100 power stations have been sanctioned across the state for proper power distribution by identifying gaps. P4

POWER SITUATION

Coal in state can last only 2-3 days

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

AS many parts of the country are reeling under power crises, Karnataka too has coal stocks that will last only for the next two to three days. The state has been spared the severity as it was blessed with bountiful showers over the last few days reducing the burden on the grid.

Energy Department officials told TNIE, "Every day, we are getting 15 rakes of coal. But it is better as we used to get 11 rakes earlier. We are hand-to-mouth as far as the coal situation is concerned, but we are in a better position as we have renewable energy and the weather is good. The rains have been a blessing for us."

Power Minister Sunil Kumar said the daily average coal supply is improving, while the average peak demand is 10,400 MW.

"It has been raining over the last few days and the power demand for irrigation pump sets in agricultural fields has come down. This has also brought down power generation at Ballari and Raichur thermal units," the minister added.

Power crisis looms as coal stocks dry up

Low imports add to pain

An official said lowering the coal imports in 2021-22 is one of the reasons thermal power plants are facing coal shortage. India imported just 25 million tonnes in FY22, which is just 50% of last year's import

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

INDIA is on the verge of an unprecedented power crisis as thermal power plants across the country are grappling with coal shortages.

According to the Central Electricity Authority of India's latest daily coal report, coal stock at 81 out of a total of 150 thermal power stations using domestic coal is in critical stage. The situation at private thermal plants is equally bad as stock at 28 out of 54 plants is critical.

"Coal inventories in power plants remain tight at nine days' worth of stock as of mid-April and could result in power outages. If coal supplies do not improve, this could become another 'stagflationary shock', said Shalendra Dubey, chairman, All-India Power Engineers Federation. He warned the coal stock is left for just seven days in Uttar Pradesh, eight days in Haryana, and 17 days in Rajasthan, while the norm is to keep 26 days' stock. The situation is not better in Andhra, Tamil Nadu, Telangana, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Gujarat, Jharkhand and Chhattisgarh.

As on April 19, 2022, the peak power demand was 1,88,014 MW while the peak-time shortage stood at 4,469 MW. In comparison, peak demand was 2,00,570 MW in July 2021.

On its part, the Centre has dispelled worries of a power crisis with coal minister Prahald Joshi saying 72.5 million tonnes (MT) coal stock is available with CIL, washeries and captive blocks.

However, in private, coal ministry officials admit there is coal shortage across the country and a power crisis can't be ruled out.

Official fails to 'trace' BSY to serve court summons

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister BS Yediyurappa's legal challenges are far from over. On Wednesday, the official attached to the Special Court for the trial of cases against MPs and MLAs reported to the court that he could not serve the summons to Yediyurappa, an accused in a land denotification case of 2012.

The official told the court that he visited Yediyurappa's residence on April 8, 13 and 16 and was unable to serve the summons. He was informed that Yediyurappa was busy touring the state. Why the court process server, as the official is called, did not contact Yediyurappa over phone is a mystery.

Yediyurappa has been seeking a hearing in the Supreme Court to stay the summons issued to him by the trial court in the Bellandur denotification case for the last two weeks, but has not succeeded.

Yediyurappa, accused No. 2, was asked by the trial court to appear before it on April 19 in the case filed under Sec 13 (1)(d) (criminal misconduct) of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

On Yediyurappa approaching the Supreme Court directly, legal experts said he had gone before the High Court seeking quashing of proceedings in 2019, but it was dismissed in 2020.

S'mogga airport to be named after Yediyurappa

The Shivamogga airport will be named after former CM BS Yediyurappa and it was decided by the cabinet. The decision will be sent to the approval of Union Civil Aviation Ministry, said CM Basavaraj Bommai.

307 cases booked against garbage trucks

Documents not in order, say traffic police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING three fatal accidents in the city involving garbage trucks, the city traffic police on Wednesday morning, conducted a special drive against BBMP garbage trucks. The trucks were found to be operating with violations of different types including driving without uniform, signal jumps, defective number plates, etc. The drivers were also checked for drunk driving and one driver was booked and his driving license was seized. Fitness and emission certificates of the trucks were also checked.

The traffic police have booked 307 cases for different violations. 59 of them have been booked for not wearing a uniform. 49 drivers were booked for driving on no-entry zones, 43 of them have been booked for using defected registration number plate, another 43 have been booked for lane discipline, 24 drivers have been booked for wrong parking, 23 have been booked for jumping traffic signals, 19 drivers have been booked for using mobile phone, nine were found driving without license, and 9 have been booked for driving without documents.

The other cases booked are for defective silencer, footpath parking, reckless driving, shrill horn, without insurance certificate.

There have been three recent fatal accidents involving garbage trucks, an employee of a bank died on the spot after coming under the wheels of a garbage truck near the Nayandahalli junction on Mysuru Road on Monday night. On April 1, a 60-year-old farmer was killed after a speeding BBMP garbage truck knocked down his bike in Bagaluru. In another case, a 14-year-old was killed on March 21, while pedestrian were injured after a speeding garbage truck knocked them down in Hebbal.

Setback rules for buildings come into force

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE government is bringing in changes to the mandatory setback rules for buildings in Bengaluru, as part of the zonal regulations of the Revised Master Plan 2015, under the Town and Country Planning Act 1961. The changes aim at making Bengaluru more liveable.

For buildings rising above 11.5 metres up to 15 metres, the all-round setback is 5 metres, and for buildings which are 15-18 metres tall, the setback is to be 6 metres. For buildings rising over 50 metres, the setback laid down in 16 metres. A minimum setback of 3 metres is necessary in the front of a structure, and a minimum of 2 metres at the rear.

The setback on the sides of a structure -- which is usually the source of dispute in Bengaluru and other cities -- is to be a minimum of 1.2 metre. All this applies only if a stilt floor has been constructed for parking.

The notification, signed by Urban Development Department undersecretary S Veena says, ''These rules will come into force from the date when it is published in the gazette, and shall apply to new buildings, including those going in for plan approvals.''

The issue of making Bengaluru a better planned city had been on the government's mind even during the tenure of former chief minister B S Yediyurappa, when he was holding the Bengaluru portfolio. The government, under his successor Basavaraj Bommai, has brought out fresh new regulations in the Revised Master Plan 2015, which will come into force in the local planning area of the city. These rules will come under the Town and Country Planning Act. Bommai holds the Bangalore Development portfolio.

Former Town and Country Planning director SB Honnur, said, "These rules are not very convincing. For example, they have not defined what is less than 11.5 to 15 metres.''

BENGALURU: With a 5 per cent discount offered to those paying taxes before April 30 on BDA properties, the rush is on. But flat and site owners had a tough time on Wednesday as the link to pay the tax was missing. BDA said it will be set right by 3 pm on Thursday. Sham Junare S, a property owner in Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout, said, "Under the action tab in https://propertytax.bdabangalore.org, the payment link option has been removed." An IT department official said, "We had an issue for the entire day on Wednesday. It will be set right by 3 pm tomorrow (Thursday)." BDA Commissioner Rajesh Gowda said the project is afoot to put in place a robust IT system at a cost of Rs 15 crore.

HC nod for axing 1,334 trees for Metro Phase 2B

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WHILE directing Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) to retain 26 trees and translocate 160 trees, the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday permitted the felling of 1,334 trees for the Metro project between Kasturinagar and Kempapura on Outer Ring Road, for Phase 2B, Package 1.

Before passing the order as per Section 8(3) of the Karnataka Preservation of Trees Act, the Tree Officer and DCF, BBMP issued public notice and received 239 suggestions/objections. It also considered the report submitted by the Technical Experts Committee (TEC), after field inspection.

Hearing BMRCL's application seeking permission, a division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice SR Krishna Kumar permitted BMRCL to proceed as per the order passed by the Tree Officer. The court was hearing the public interest litigation filed by Dattatraya T Devare and Bangalore Environment Trust in 2018.

According to the Tree Officer's order, BMRCL has sought permission for clearance of 1,507 trees coming in the way of the project. After considering public suggestions/objections and TEC's report, the Tree Officer passed the order, directing BMRCL to retain 26 trees on-site, translocate 160 trees, and permitted it to fell 1,334 trees.

Several conditions were laid, which included planting of 10 healthy and tall saplings in lieu of every tree felled/translocated, and maintained for a minimum period of three years by BMRCL. This apart, BMRCL has to ensure that no damage is caused to the trees which are retained.

BBMP chief warns of stern action if roads not restored

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Wednesday said that stern action will be taken against officials and agencies if the roads are not restored after civil works are done.

Assessing the development of roads in 110 villages, and works on restoration of roads, Gupta said that a delay in road repair works will lead to action against the concerned officials.

He held a virtual meeting to assess the restoration of roads in 110 villages and said, "The state government had released a grant of Rs 1,078 crores for restoration of roads in 110 villages. All works should be completed by May end." BBMP officials had also held a detailed meeting with chief minister and chief secretary, after which Gupta had also stated that the onus is on the agency to restore the road.

"No complaints of spoilt roads, from anywhere in the city, should come. Road restoration works should be of good quality. The concerned officials should monitor the works. Road restoration works should also be done on arterial and sub-arterial roads immediately," he said.

Hessarghatta to be declared a conservation reserve

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE long awaited demand of declaring Hessarghatta grasslands as a conservation reserve could soon become a reality. The proposal has got more teeth as members of the assurance committee of the Council have given a nod to it.

The committee of MLCs agreed to the proposal by the forest department and realised the need to protect the area. About 10 MLCs of the 15-member panel agreed to the assurances made by the forest department on Wednesday.

Former CM BS Yedyurappa had dropped the proposal to declare the last standing grassland around Bengaluru at the state board for wildlife meeting, after objections were raised by Yelahanka MLA S R Vishwanath. Conservationists had challenged it in the High Court, which had ordered a status quo.

"Now since the Committee has approved the proposal, it will again be placed before the state wildlife board. It will be submitted to the High Court too. The cabinet will then approve the plan and it will be declared a reserve. The forest department is keen for the 5010 acres of grassland to be declared as a Greater Conservation Reserve. They have also got in-principal approval of the animal husbandry department," the government source said.

Hotels, restaurants seek permit for 24X7

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

If all goes well, you will no longer have to finish your ice cream before 11 pm. This will happen if the police agrees to an appeal made by hotels and restaurants to operate round the clock. Members of the Bruhath Bengaluru Hotels and Restaurants Association have sent a letter to the police commissioner, seeking permission to operate round the clock. "When the government has permitted 24X7 operations of all commercial units in the city, why do the police officials force us to close down by 11pm," asked Vijay, a restaurateur. In the letter to Kamal Panth, they have quoted the government order dated E-LD 4LET 2019 (P) issued on January 2, 2021, which permits all shops and commercial establishments, in the state, employing ten or more people to be open 24X7 on all days of the year.

P C Rao, President of Bruhath Bengaluru Hotels and Restaurants Association said that this will also reduce the crime rate.

PETER VIDAL

21st April : Certain planetary movements are significant for us all, no matter what our individual birth signs. So, now that Mercury has changed its position, all of us have the chance to alter our minds. The one condition is that we have to base our new choices on the facts. Follow a fantasy and it will all come unstuck.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Today's planetary pattern is of considerable significance for the coming weeks. You'll be calling on all your past experience, particularly on the fact that all the career changes and domestic moves of the past three years have made you infinitely more wise and mature.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Everything I have said about increasing respect at work and comfort at home crystallises around planetary positions over the next forty-eight hours. You now have about ten to twelve weeks to press ahead in pursuit of your goals with total determination on all fronts.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
It looks increasingly likely that many of you may soon be taken abroad on account of work or some equally serious purpose. Even if you never leave your front door, something that happens on the other side of the world is due to make its mark on your imagination.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You should consider the financial situation. Your stars today have nothing to say about immediate purchases and everything to say about the need to take care of the long-term - meaning pensions, savings, insurance and sundry guarantees. In all romantic matters your guiding principle should be 'home is where the heart is'.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your planetary positions in the next two days set the scene for the coming two months as far as you and your loved ones are concerned, so lift your sights from the daily grind and spare a thought for your purpose, place and destiny on this planet.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Don't worry about being exploited or overworked. The more you put yourself out now and over coming weeks, the more amazing will be the consequences over future years. Just don't push yourself so hard that you end up flat on your back. That would never do!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Life is never straightforward, even when it is supposed to be. There's a strange contradiction between romantic inhibitions and social confidence. The result of such a dynamic difference could be to transform your emotional life for better, once and for all!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Don't be deceived if everything seems terribly easy, even when help arrives from unexpected quarters. If you are gearing yourself up to make the greatest effort you've made for many months, then you are truly in league with the heavens. Besides, it's about time you struck a shrewd financial deal.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Friends and colleagues have different points of view and you seem to have one foot in each camp. Combine selfishness with selflessness in exactly equal measure and you won't go far wrong. Entrepreneurial activities are especially favoured, all the more so if a property deal is on the cards.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
The past few weeks have almost certainly proved dynamic socially, but there does now seem to be reason enough for an apology of sorts. Hopefully it was someone else who stood on a partner's toes, not you! Still, you can do your bit to create a better atmosphere.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You resemble a number of other people in the depth and profundity of your current planetary picture. Take a deep breath, for whatever you do now will have its full consequences in around six months' time. Don't rush it or you'll overlook essential details.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You like to spend time by yourself. In fact, there is a distinctly monastic side to your personality, and I think it should now be indulged. Stay in and enjoy yourself by all means: if other people try to drag you out it will have to be to do something very special indeed.

No fourth wave yet, but there may be uptick in cases

Wear masks, get vaccinated, advises Sudhakar; Says health officials keeping close watch on virus variants

Though the fourth wave is not here yet, the normal trend seen in the last two waves has been that if other states see rise in cases, then Karnataka too will see a spike

Dr K Sudhakar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AMID an uptick in Covid-19 cases in Delhi and a few other states, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar warned the people of Karnataka to be wary and ensure that they follow Covid-appropriate behaviour, wear masks and taking the precautionary dose of vaccination.

He told the media, "Though the fourth wave is not here yet, the normal trend seen in the last two waves has been that if other states see an uptick in cases, then Karnataka too will see a spike. People should be aware of this. Wearing of masks, especially in closed spaces, has to become mandatory and a norm in K'taka," Sudhakar said.

He said the state is well prepared to handle the Covid-19 situation and is keeping a close watch on the B.1.10 and B.1.12 variants of the virus, which are likely to be more transmissible. Genome sequencing of all eligible RT-PCR positive samples is being carried out, he added. Health department officials are monitoring the situation in other states closely, and surveillance is on to check for any new variants or mutations emerging in Karnataka, he added.

Stressing the need for taking the precautionary dose of vaccination, he said that in the state, 97.9 per cent of the people have taken the second dose and those taking the primary dose has crossed 100 per cent. However, vaccination for those aged 12 and above, and also the third (precautionary) dose has been considerably low in the state.

He said, "Nearly 29-30 lakh people are yet to take their second dose. Also, people should understand the need and importance of vaccinating their children. Those eligible for the third dose should compulsorily take it."

City doctor makes it to The Ophthalmologist Power List 2022

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A Bengaluru-based cornea-refractive surgeon has been named as one of the top 100 most inspiring and influential ophthalmologists of the world by 'The Ophthalmologist' magazine.

Dr Rohit Shetty, cornea-refractive surgeon and a translational scientist, Vice-Chairman of Narayana Nethralaya, said he has been passionate about personalised eye care. The Ophthalmologist Power List 2022 is a roll call of giants in clinical practice and vision research. According to a release by Narayana Nethralaya, the list for this is prepared from the mammoth lineup of 450 names by an international panel of 20 judges.

Dr Shetty said, "I am humbled and honoured to be amongst the top brilliant minds in eye care. The biggest need in the field is to quickly adapt to the rapidly changing technology and therapeutics," he said.

Dr Shetty's work on pain management after photorefractive keratectomy, the influence of stromal molecular markers on corneal ectasia and risk scoring systems to predict ectasia after refractive surgery has been well received in the world of ophthalmology.

Man with mental health issues kills wife, surrenders before cops

ENS @Bengaluru

A 35-year-old man, with suspected symptoms of schizophrenia, has surrendered before the police after killing his wife, suspecting her of hatching a plot to get him killed. He had also assumed that she was having an affair with his brother. He was not convinced despite his wife's attempts to clear his doubts.

Two years ago, the same accused had given sleepless nights to the police as he had told them that some political leaders and others were trying to kill him. The Anekal police had to summon all the suspects and found out that some of them did not even know him.

The accused, Mallesh, a resident of Thimmarayaswamy Temple Road in Anekal, is suspected to have smothered his wife Saraswathi, 33, to death. Mallesh, who runs a laundry, surrendered before the Anekal police on Tuesday morning.

"After surrendering, he created a scene, saying the police are planning to kill him in a fake encounter. He suspected his own lawyer friend of hatching a plot to kill him on the court premises, and requested the court to send him away. Later, a government advocate was provided for him. He may be subjected to tests to check his mental stability in the prison," said an officer.

The police suspect Mallesh to have psychological issues. After smothering his wife to death, he walked into the police station as if nothing had happened and claimed to have killed his wife. He has been remanded in judicial custody.

The Anekal police have filed a case of murder under Section 302 of the IPC.

SUV overturns, ex-minister injured

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tumakuru

VETERAN Congress leader and former Karnataka minister T B Jayachandra escaped with minor injuries when the SUV he was travelling in overturned near Seebi, on the Bengaluru-Pune National Highway-48, on the intermediary night of Tuesday and Wednesday.

He was shifted to Vikram Hospital in Bengaluru, where he is recuperating with a hairline fracture of the rib. His condition is stable, his son informed TNIE, adding that he is likely to be discharged in a day or two.

After attending several events till late in the night in his erstwhile Sira assembly constituency, Jayachandra was returning home to Bengaluru with his gunner. When the car was approaching Tumakuru, the chauffeur lost control as the rear tyre got flattened, and the vehicle overturned. It was around 12.30 am.

Locals rushed to the spot and broke open the glass panes of the vehicle and rescued Jayachandra, an eyewitness, Syed Yasir, said. The driver and gunner escaped unhurt. Traffic came to a halt for some time.

Kallambella police have registered a case.

Leaders, including former Tumakuru City MLA Dr Rafeek Ahmed, visited Jayachandra and enquired about his health. KPCC president D K Shivakumar wished the senior leader a speedy recovery on twitter.

Patients should be provided homely treatment at KC General Hospital. Jayadeva and Vani Vilas Hospitals are providing better quality service than private hospitals, why isn't it possible here?

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar inaugurates the upgraded ICU at KC General Hospital in Bengaluru

City's KC General Hospital gets 10-bed paediatric ICU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A Paediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU) was inaugurated at K C General Hospital in Malleswaram on Wednesday. It was sponsored by a private player. Speaking at the inauguration, Minister for Health and Medical Education Dr K Sudhakar said plans are on the anvil to build a 100-bed Mother and Child wing at K C General Hospital, on the lines of Vani Vilas Hospital.

The minister, who expressed displeasure over the working of the hospital, said, "As announced in the budget, 500-bed super-speciality hospitals will be built in four parts of Bengaluru, under Public-Private Partnership (PPP) model. The proposals are expected this year and the sites will be identified soon." The upgraded ICU and newly installed equipment was sponsored by Opentext and Nirman.

Sudhakar said pneumonia in children below five years of age has been a matter of concern. Halthcare staff and ASHA workers are being trained to check deaths due to pneumonia in kids, he added. An estimated 1.5 lakh children below the age of five years have been dying due to pneumonia, which accounts for 28 of 1,000 newborns in Karnataka.

Sudhakar's jibe at Narayan

Expressing unhappiness over the functioning of KC General hospital, Sudhakar said, "The hospital is in Malleswaram, the heart of the city. Patients should be provided homely treatment. Jayadeva and Vani Vilas Hospitals are providing better quality service than private hospitals, why isn't it possible here?" He was quick to throw in Higher Education and IT/BT Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan's name, while indirectly asking leaders of the constituency to look into the functioning of the hospital. Malleswaram is represented by Dr CN Ashwath Narayan.

ACB arrests Chikkajala traffic police inspector

BENGALURU: The inspector of Chikkajala traffic police station was caught red-handed by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) while accepting a bribe of Rs 20,000 from a contractor. The inspector, Hamsaveni, had stopped works of the contractor and had demanded money to allow him to resume them. ACB officials said the contractor had been awarded a tender by the Gas Authority of India Ltd for laying underground pipelines. He had taken up the works at Telecom Layout 8th Cross which falls under the jurisdiction of the Chikkajala traffic police station. "The traffic police staff had stopped the works and had asked the contractor to come to the station with documents to carry on with the works. When the contractor went to the station, two staffers, Gangaraju and Amul, demanded Rs 20,000 to resume the works immediately and Rs 50,000 to continue the works later. The contractor had filed a complaint with ACB," an official said. The Anti-Corruption Bureau police laid a trap and Hamsaveni received Rs 20,000 from the complainant. She was arrested immediately. "The role of the two other staffers is being investigated," the official added. ENS

Gang strikes jewellery store, decamps with gold worth ₹2.5 crore

BENGALURU: A gang of burglars struck a jewellery store in JP Nagar first phase and decamped with 5 kg gold jewellery worth Rs 2.50 crore by drilling a hole in the wall. The police suspect the role of some youth who were staying on rent in the same building. The burglary took place at Priyadarshini Jewellers near the Metro station on Kanakapura Main Road, in the early hours of Monday. The shop owner, K Raju Devadiga, has filed a complaint with the JP Nagar police, stating that he had closed the store around 7 pm on Sunday after keeping gold jewels in a safe. When he opened the shop at 10 am on Monday, he found the store ransacked, the safe open and 5 kg gold jewels missing. "The burglars have drilled a hole through the wall of the shop to gain entry and stolen the valuables. As per the preliminary probe, Devadiga had rented out a room located on the third floor of the building to two youth about two months ago. Their role is suspected as they have gone missing now. They had given an Aadhaar card that had a Delhi address as proof while taking the room on rent, but it turned out to be fake. Investigations revealed that five people from Bihar and Assam committed the offence," a source said. ENS

Youth hurt as man opens fire in theatre screening KGF 2

ARUNKUMAR HURALIMATH @Haveri

A 27-year-old man from Shiggaon in Haveri district was injured after a fellow moviegoer opened fire at him at a theatre during the screening of blockbuster movie KGF 2 on Tuesday night. The incident was reported at Rajashri theatre.

A middle-aged man opened fire at a person inside the theatre. The hall turned empty in no time after the feared audience dashed to reach for the exit gates. The theatre has been shut down after the incident. The police said that injured Vasanthkumar (27), a resident of Mugali village of Haveri district, had come to watch the movie along with his friends.

About 20 minutes into the movie, Vasanthkumar accidentally touched the seat in which the shooter was seated. Both had an argument and the accused left the theatre along with his friend. He rode back home, brought a pistol and once again entered the theatre. As per the eyewitness account, the shooter walked back into the theatre and opened fire at Vasanthakumar. The shooter aimed and fired three bullets on Vasanthkumar, but he could manage to hit only two. Both bullets hit in the abdominal regions of the victim. Vasanthkumar was soon shifted to KIMS hospital in Hubballi. His condition is currently out of danger, said a doctor treating him.

"The injured person had no enmity with others. On Tuesday after working in his agriculture field, the victim came to watch the movie. The shooter is absconding and efforts are being made to nab him. List of licensed gun holders is also being checked," the police said.

According to the theatre staff, the movie screening began at 9.30 pm and around 9.50 pm, the firing incident took place. "As the movie began, the theatre staff were resting in the projector room. Soon after the incident, moviegoers began to run outside the theatre then the staff came to know about the incident. We shifted the injured person to the hospital and informed the police," said a staff member.

A dog squad, accompanied by ballistic experts, forensic science laboratories and other experts, visited the spot to collect evidence at the crime scene.

Haveri SP Hanumantharaya said that the police have formed two teams to investigate and nab the accused. "After detaining the suspect person, we shall reveal further details. The victim had no enmity with others... the incident occurred over a petty issue and in a fit of anger, the accused fired from his pistol," he added.

With KSE out, Siddu gains stature as Kuruba leader

Community supported Cong leader in 2013 in the run-up to polls

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH former RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa being pushed to the political wings -- for the time being, as his supporters claim — the Congress and Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah will do their best to win over the Kuruba community and ensure its support in the 2023 election. The community had supported Siddaramaiah in 2013, catapulting him to the Chief Minister's post.

Siddaramaiah is likely to be the centre of attraction at the Kuruba community convention, slated to be held in Tumakuru on May 28.

Kemparaju, leader of the Kanaka Sene, the youth wing of the community, confirmed that the convention has been fixed, and Siddaramaiah has given the dates. But he maintained that it was fixed well before the resignation of K S Eshwarappa.

The event, coming ahead of the 2023 assembly polls, is likely to set the ball rolling for both the Congress and Siddaramaiah to claim the support of the Kurubas. The community is politically influential, next only to the Veerashaiva-Lingayats and Vokkaligas in Karnataka.

The ruling BJP has no other frontline 'original' Kuruba leader, except for turncoats such as Byrati Basavaraj, S R Vishwanath and MTB Nagaraj, to project them as community leaders. In fact, Eshwarappa, who had traction in the community, had also tried to attract the 'Ahinda' — acronym for Backward classes and Dalits — by launching the 'Sangolli Rayanna Brigade' in 2011-12. However, he did not take it forward, following Amit Shah's advice, and apprehension that it would affect the BJP adversely.

Now, with Eshwarappa having no power in his hands, Siddaramaiah has the opportunity to make a strong case for himself as the supreme leader of Kurubas once again.

Moily bats for PK, says Cong must make him its K'taka poll strategist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

I am impressed by his political strategies. I have met Kishor thrice in recent times and I am convinced with his strategies

Veerappa Moily, former Union Minister, on Prashant Kishor

SENIOR Congress leader Veerappa Moily has strongly rallied behind political strategist Prashant Kishor stating that the Congress should appoint him as its "political strategist" in Karnataka ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections.

Kishor should also be made the party's political strategist for all the seven states which will go to polls in 2022-2023, Moily told the media here on Wednesday.

Moily said that several Congress leaders, including him, want Kishor to join the party and develop strategies instead of working merely as a political strategist outside the party. "I am impressed by his political strategies. I have met Kishor thrice in recent times and I am convinced with his strategies," the former Union Minister added.

The Congress should take Kishor into confidence and trust his plans and strategies to achieve success in the ensuing elections, the former chief minister said, adding that the former had worked for several political parties in West Bengal, Bihar, Punjab, etc as a strategist but never joined any political outfit. "His effective planning helped Narendra Modi become Prime Minister in 2014," said Moily.

The violence in Hubballi last week left 12 cops injured and 7 police vehicles damaged

HUBBALLI VIOLENCE

THE Hubballi police on Wednesday arrested 11 more persons in connection with the violence that rocked Hubballi on Saturday night. With this, the total number of people arrested in the case now stands at 127.

Meanwhile, the police on Wednesday continued to identify and search for miscreants who were involved in the violence where 12 policemen were injured and seven police vehicles were damaged. A maulvi, who had climbed a police vehicle on the day of violence, continues to remain absconding. Police sources said that some of the houses belonging to one particular community remain locked fearing police raids. The Hubballi police have so far questioned close to 300 people ever since the violence was reported in Old Hubballi Police Station circle on April 16.

Hubballi-Dharwad Police Commissioner Labhu Ram said that the police are looking out for the maulvi who was seen arguing with the cops on the night of the violence. "We have made 11 fresh arrests on Wednesday. More arrests may follow," he added.

Meanwhile, Karnataka State Minorities Commission chairman Abdul Azeem and secretary Mohammed Nazeer will be visiting Hubballi on Thursday. The team will visit the place of violence and will hold meetings with the police commissioner and with the leaders from the Minority community.

The police have imposed prohibitory orders in the south division of Hubballi till April 23. On the night of April 16, hundreds of protesters gathered in front of the Old Hubballi Police Station and resorted to stone pelting over a social media post by a student.

ACCUSED ALLOWED TO WRITE EXAM

The Hubballi court on Wednesday permitted the 18-year-old student whose social media post led to violence that rocked Hubballi on Saturday, to write his PU II exams with police security. He was arrested on April 16 and sent to judicial custody. His lawyer filed a bail plea, but the court rejected the bail and directed the police to make a facility for him to study for the exam. PU II exams will begin on April 22.

DKS TEARS INTO BJP OVER RIOTS

BENGALURU: KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Wednesday hit out at senior BJP leaders for blaming Congress leaders of being involved in the violence that broke out in Hubballi last week. "Many senior BJP leaders, including former Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa, Union Ministers and MPs are making allegations against Congress leaders. If that is the case, let them make arrests. Why they have not made any arrests?" he thundered. Shivakumar said the police had sought help from the Congress district unit president to bring the situation under control. The Congress leader had gone there and had climbed on a police vehicle to appeal to the protesters to maintain peace, he said. "He too suffered injuries in stone pelting," he added. He accused the State Government of failing to stop moral policing in Karnataka and hurting the sentiments of Minorities. Shivakumar also urged the government to respond to seers' allegations of the government demanding a commission to release grants to mutts.

Eshwarappa demands arrest of maulvi

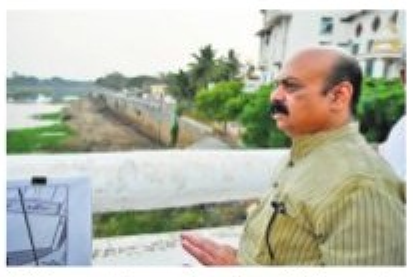
SHIVAMOGGA: Senior BJP MLA and former minister KS Eshwarappa has requested Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah to arrest the maulvi alleged to be involved in the violence that rocked Hubballi last week. Eshwarappa also suspected a conspiracy behind the violence and demanded strict action against individuals and organisations disturbing peace in the society. He also demanded the government to identify the miscreants with the help of CCTV camera footage and arrest them Goonda Act. Slamming the Congress leaders for not condemning the Hubballi violence, Eshwarappa called those involved in the violence as traitors.

Act strict against rioters: VHP, Barjrang Dal to govt

CHIKKAMAGALURU: Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) and Bajrang Dal activists on Wednesday urged the government not to spare anyone who unleashed violence in Old Hubballi and bring them to book. In a strongly-worded letter addressed to CM Bommai and submitted to the deputy commissioner, officer-bearers Yogishraj Urs, Shivanna and Ranganath said rioters threw stones at the police station and injured many policemen. The attack was preplanned as the stones had been piled up in the area before the violence broke out, they said. If the government had dealt sternly with arsonists in the DJ Halli incident and Harsha murder case, incidents like these would not have occurred.

CM: Meeting soon to sort out forest-related issues

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivmaogga



CM Bommai inspects a Smart City work in Shivamogga city on Wednesday

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said he would convene a meeting of elected representatives of the six Western Ghats districts in the first week of May to discuss on legal recourse to tackle forest-related issues. He said the meeting would also involve Advocate General and other senior officials of various departments, including the forest department.

Addressing the media here, Bommai said, "Some of the problems require amendment of laws, some need support from the Union Government and for some immediate action needs to be taken. All these issues would be debated in the meeting." 'There is a need to take some legal course with regard to the forest related issues. Hence, I am convening a special meeting on this in the first week of May. It is not only related to Shivamogga but also Chikkamagaluru, Hassan, Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Uttara Kannada and Kodagu,' said Bommai.

He said airport and Smart City works in Shivamogga will be expedited. Speaking about the Jog Falls in Shivamogga district, Bommai said administration approval has been given for its overall development, so as to turn it into an international tourist spot.

CM Bommai expressed the need to bring an amendment to the Karnataka Land Grabbing Act 2011. "In big cities, people grab land as for money... in rural areas it is for their livelihood. This disparity needs to be rectified by amending the Act," he said.

The Chief Minster said the State government is keen on setting up new industries in Shivamogga, for which focus would be on infrastructure and skill development.

'The heads of various IT-BT companies will participate in the upcoming Bengaluru Tech Summit. We will ask them to consider about our idea of 'Beyond Bengaluru' to invest in other cities and districts of Karnataka, including Shivamogga,' he said.

Police look for proof to issue notice to KSE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

NINE days after contractor Santosh Patil's alleged suicide at a lodge in Udupi, police received the preliminary postmortem report from the Department of Forensic Medicine, KMC, Manipal, on Wednesday.

Police sources told TNIE that according to the preliminary report, the final opinion is pending as the histopathological and viscera reports are awaited. Though the preliminary report suggests it is a case of death due to consumption of poison, police are looking for documentary evidence before sending a notice to accused number one, former minister K S Eshwarappa and two other accused – Basavaraj and Ramesh -- who have been charged under Section 306 IPC in the case. So far, there is no documentary evidence to prove it is a case of abetment of suicide.

Police sources added that so far, they have not found any direct phone calls made by Santosh Patil to Eshwarappa.

Sources added that the final postmortem report is expected after some days. It is only after documentary evidence is established that the investigating officer is expected to file the chargesheet before the special court in Bengaluru. Police will have 90 days to complete investigation and file the chargesheet, after the FIR is registered.

Meanwhile, the lodge in Udupi town where Santosh Patil allegedly committed suicide last week, saw another alleged suicide on Tuesday. Sharan Raj (31), a medical representative from Amblamogaru of Dakshina Kannada district, was found hanging from the ceiling fan of his room. Disappointment in love is said to have led Sharan Raj to end his life. The case is under investigation.

The lodge, that was shut for investigation, was reopened after a puja was performed. The lodge owner also changed the name as many prospective customers had cancelled their bookings and others were hesitant to take up lodging here.

State economy is stable, says Bommai

LOAD distribution problem persists. Apart from a central government scheme for farmers to install solar-powered pump sets, the state too extends a 40 per cent subsidy for such installations, he added.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said the overall condition of the economy in the state is good and there is a considerable decline in loans taken. Resource mobilisation took off after August 2021 and the government has accrued over Rs 11,000 crore as commercial tax which is a record for the state.

Raitha Sangha, AAP to put up united face at rally today

BENGALURU: Ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls, Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Aam Aadmi Party will put up a united front with Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal addressing a rally of farmers at the National College Grounds here on Thursday. At the event, organised by the Kodihalli Chandrashekar faction of Raitha Sangha, Kejriwal is likely to raise the issue of corruption in Karnataka. Chandrashekar, who is expected to join AAP on the occasion, said, "The Raitha Sangha brought down the corrupt Gundurao-led Congress government in 1983. It will now give a call to the people to remove the 40% commission BJP government led by Bommai." As Congress and JDS have failed to work as effective opposition parties, it has become inevitable for Raitha Sangha to join Kejriwal's AAP. "Kejriwal has a clean image and is a crusader against corruption. We will also take up issues related to anti-farmer laws," he added.

CID gets evidence of K'buragi school manipulating PSI test answer sheets

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI
@ Kalaburagi

THE CID, which is investigating the PSI recruitment entrance test scam, has got evidence that the answer scripts were manipulated in the test that was held on October 3 at Jnana Ganga English Medium School, which was one of the examination centres. But CID sleuths are still clueless about the identity of the kingpins, who received money from the candidates for upticking scores in their answer sheets and the results.

CID sources told TNIE that the police custody of the employees of Jnana Ganga School -- Suma, Siddamma and Savitri, who were supervisors for the entrance test -- and that of the candidates -- Arun Patil, Chetan Nandgaon and Praveen Kumar -- ended on Wednesday. They were produced before the court and as the CID did not seek the extension of their custody, they were sent to judicial custody. The CID may seek the police custody of the three candidates three days later as their interrogation is not over yet. The three accused employees of the school reportedly told the investigators that the school management gave Rs 4,000 each to all the employees at the school as the entrance test went off smoothly and that the employees helped in manipulating the answer papers. The CID team has also found that Arun Patil was an ABVP leader.

The police first arrested Veeresh, a candidate and son of a head constable attached to Sedam police station. Suspicions arose as he secured 100 per cent marks, though he had solved only 21 questions. Based on his information, the police arrested the three employees of the school and the three other candidates. Jnana Ganga Institute president Rajesh Hagaragi, who is the husband of Divya -- a local BJP leader, was arrested on Sunday evening. Divya and school headmaster Kashinath are absconding for the last 10 days.

CID cops quiz 45 candidates

BENGALURU: The sleuths of the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) probing the irregularities in the recruitment of 545 police sub-inspectors questioned 45 candidates selected in the provisional list and verified documents. The CID police had issued notices to 50 candidates on Tuesday, asking them to appear for an inquiry on Wednesday. Sources said that 45 candidates among the 50 summoned turned up and they were questioned briefly. "The purpose of summoning them was to verify the OMR sheets. The candidates' copy of the OMR sheet was verified with the OMR sheets received for evaluation. Both were matched to check whether there were any discrepancies," an official said. The official added that all selected candidates will be summoned for inquiry in batches of 50 each. Further, he added that the hunt for the absconding accused in the case was in full swing and information was being gathered to trace them. The CID sleuths have so far arrested eight persons, while Divya Hagaragi, the former district president of BJP Mahila Morcha in Kalaburagi, who has allegedly played a key role in the scam, and others are still at large. RUSSIA-UKRAINE WAR

'India must play more proactive diplomatic role'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FORMER Deputy National Security Advisor and Director of Vivekananda Foundation Dr Arvind Gupta on Wednesday said India should play a more proactive diplomatic role in resolving the Russia-Ukraine conflict, which is having a global impact.

"I do not know what is the thinking in the government right now, but I would think this is the time to play a more proactive diplomatic role in resolving this conflict which is impacting the whole world," he said while speaking at an interaction at Synergia Foundation, a strategic think-tank in Bengaluru.

India should be active in multilateral forums, at the United Nations, in regional forums and speak about it, he said, while appreciating Minister for External Affairs S Jaishankar for talking about human rights issues.

Dr Gupta said India's foreign policy was put to test and it has emerged with fairly good grades despite pressure from the US and Russia.

"We have stuck to our national interest. We were able to maintain contact with all the sides at the highest levels... managed to evacuate over 20,000 students and also withstand pressures despite all kinds of statements and commentaries. It shows that a foreign policy based on an all-round, deep and meaningful engagement and the Prime Minister leading from the front had a positive impact," he added.

As the new balance of power emerges, India should not be a bystander, but must articulate its position on various issues, not necessarily by naming Russia, but by outlining its concerns on various issues and taking other countries along with it, he said.

Dr Gupta said India should focus a lot on its neighbourhood and also on capacity-building as foreign policy is as good as the country's capacities which includes economic and other capacities, too.

An 85-year-old woman has become the first victim of Kyasanur Forest Disease (KFD)this year. The woman was a native of Halageri village in Siddapur taluk in Uttara Kannada district.

WII: Conflicts may rise as more tigers will roar in forest fringes

Researchers say areas housing tigers may increase by another 5K-10K sqkm

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

WHILE the tiger country is getting ready to take pride once again with the the rise in big cat numbers, researchers from the Wildlife Institute of India warned that this rise in numbers could lead to an increase in tiger-human conflicts.

They pointed out that camera trap and tiger assessment preliminary findings show that areas housing tigers may increase by another 5,000-10,000 sqkm. But this is not enough to support the present tiger population, they warned.

A senior WII researcher told TNIE that the tiger area cannot increase beyond 90,000 sqkm and a maximum of 10,000 sqkm may be added to the list. "The camera trap assessment has shown tiger presence beyond forest areas. We are asking all states with a healthy tiger population to prepare a man-animal conflict and tiger mitigation plan. This will be compiled and released with the upcoming tiger census report," he said.

The problem is severe in Karnataka as tiger population is already spilling out of areas like Bandipur and Nagarhole Tiger Reserves. "Even as Karnataka is in the race to get back its No. 1 position in tiger population, the plan to ensure protection and reduced conflicts is limited. All tigers straying out cannot be captured and housed in rescue centres. The state government says buffer zones cannot be increased and relocation of villagers is not possible, then what is the solution," wondered a senior National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) official.

Reserve	No of images
Nagarahole	10,30,156
Bhadra	3,33,058
BRT	4,28,519
Kali	3,15,382
Total, except Bandipur	21,07,115

3.5 cr trap images with NTCA

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

EVEN as tiger assessment is going on and camera trap images are being compiled, the NTCA and WII already have a data bank of whopping three-and-a-half crore images. Of these, 80,000 are of tigers alone.

For the first time, the two departments have decided to document all the images of all the wildlife. They will be used to track and monitor all wildlife cases, especially poaching. Karnataka has shared 21,07,115 images from Nagarahole, Kali, Bhadra and BRT Tiger Reserves.

In case of Bandipur Tiger Reserve as errors were reported by NTCA in the installation of cameras and data card errors, the exercise of the camera trap assessment is being redone. "It started all over again from April 14 and will be completed by May 25," a senior Karnataka forest department official said.

"We have three-and-a-half crore images and more are yet to come as camera trap assessment is still going on in most parts of the country. Each image is valuable and is being documented just like that of tigers. While management with tigers and leopards is easy, the task becomes challenging in case of sloth bears. The method will be different for elephants as they have unique features. While tuskers are easy to identify and trace, females will have to be monitored as assessed with their calves, herds, colonies and congregation patterns," a senior WII researcher said.

Since the images are going to be recorded, officials from NTCA have told all forest staffers to ensure that accurate and clear photographs are sent. No raw data is being entertained.

"We are creating a database of all the edited images of all the animals with us. The tigers are numbered and the same is being done for leopards and elephants. For other animals, the images will be saved and they will used to know and verify whenever wildlife deaths (natural and un-natural) occur. This database will also be useful in poaching cases and court litigations," the WII researcher added.

IISc, ISRO come up with bricks to build structures on Mars

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A TEAM of researchers from the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) in collaboration with the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) have developed "space bricks" that can be used to construct building-like structures on Mars that could facilitate human settlement on the red planet.

The sustainable method for making bricks is made out of Martian soil, using bacteria and urea. A release by IISc said that the method for making these space bricks has been outlined in a study published in PLOS One journal.

"A slurry is first created by mixing Martian soil with guar gum, a bacterium called Sporosarcina pasteurii, urea and nickel chloride (NiCl2). This slurry can be poured into moulds of any desired shape, and over a few days the bacteria convert the urea into crystals of calcium carbonate. These crystals, along with biopolymers secreted by the microbes, act as cement holding the soil particles together," the release from IISc stated.

According to researchers the advantage of this method is the reduced porosity of the bricks, which has been a problem with other methods used to consolidate Martian soil into bricks. "The bacteria seep deep into the pore spaces, using their own proteins to bind the particles together, decreasing porosity and leading to stronger bricks," says Aloke Kumar, Associate Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering at IISc, one of the senior authors of the paper. The research group had previously worked on making bricks out of lunar soil, using a similar method. However, the previous method could only produce cylindrical bricks, while the current slurry-casting method can also produce bricks of complex shapes. The slurry-casting method was developed with the help of Koushik Viswanathan, Assistant Professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, IISc, whose lab works on advanced manufacturing processes. The release added that extending the method to Martian soil proved challenging.

"Martian soil contains a lot of iron, which causes toxicity to organisms. In the beginning, our bacteria did not grow at all. Adding nickel chloride was the key step in making the soil hospitable to the bacteria," explains Kumar.

The group plans to investigate the effect of Mars' atmosphere and low gravity on the strength of the space bricks. The Martian atmosphere is 100 times thinner than Earth's atmosphere, and contains over 95% carbon dioxide, which may significantly affect bacterial growth. The researchers have constructed a device called MARS (Martian AtmospheRe Simulator), which consists of a chamber that reproduces the atmospheric conditions found on Mars in the lab.

The team has also developed a lab-on-a-chip device that aims to measure bacterial activity in micro-gravity conditions.

14-yr-old boy booked for impregnating 16-yr-old

KANNUR: The Edakkad police have booked a 14-year-old boy for allegedly impregnating a 16-year-old girl. The case was registered based on the complaint of the girl's father. He alleged the incident took place in January. The boy, a regular visitor to the girl's house, assaulted her sexually using force, the father alleged. The parents came to know of the pregnancy when they took the girl to a doctor after she complained of stomach-related ailments.

'People must be cautious in utilising power'

ADDITIONAL Chief Secretary, Energy Department, G Kumar Naik said the thrust is now on storing energy so that the state can overcome any difficult power situation. "We have passed our peak load demand because of the rain. During the day, solar and wind resources are generating energy. All these factors are stabilising the demand and supply. People, however, must still be cautious in utilising power," he added. According to the Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation Limited, the Raichur Thermal Power Plant with an installed capacity of 1,720 MW is generating 486 MW. The Ballari Thermal Power plant is generating 855 MW of the installed capacity of 1,700 MW. Yeramarus thermal plant is generating 851 MW against the capacity of 1,600 MW.

Nine die in two separate accidents in K'taka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

IN a tragic incident, six persons died and three were seriously injured after the jeep in which they were travelling rammed into a roadside tree near Kalbetta in Hunsur taluk on Wednesday. Police said Sathosh (42), Vineeth (35), Dayanand (36), Rajesh (37), Babu (51) and M R Anil (47) died while Philip (65), Keerthan (27) and Manjesh (30) were injured in the accident.

The two injured were admitted to KR Hospital and one was shifted to Brindavan Hospital in Mysuru. Doctors claimed that all the three are out of danger now.

Police said all the nine persons were returning to their native Palibetta in Virajpet taluk in Kodagu district at around 3.45 pm after attending marriage of their friend Sadananda in Hunsur taluk.

The incident happened when the driver Santhosh lost control of the speeding vehicle and crashed into a roadside tree. Police said preliminary investigation revealed that drowsiness led to the accident. As the driver was sleepy, he could not control the vehicle and crashed into a huge tree. Hunsur rural police visited the spot and are investigating.

Three killed as cars collide at Lingsugur

Raichur: Three persons were killed on the spot and two others sustained injuries when two cars collided against each other near Golapally of Lingsugur taluk on Wednesday. The deceased have been identified as Amaresh (30), Govind (35) and Raju (33). Two others sustained injuries, while one who was seriously injured is admitted to a hospital. All the victims are the residents of Yadgir.

Police sources said, "The deceased and injured were working in Bengaluru. The deceased and injured were bringing the body of one of their friends Basaiah who died due to heart attack in Bengaluru to Wadagera town of Yadgir in an ambulance followed by three cars." On the way to Wadagera, one of the cars collided with another and Amaresh, Govind and Raju were killed.

SELECTIVE DEMOLITIONS BRING NO GLORY TO THE NATION

By way of extracting elements of hope out of its opposite, it’s perhaps a good thing that ‘bulldozer raj’ moved right into the heart of India’s capital. At least it was bound to invite the kind of national scrutiny it didn’t when it was unfolding in more mofussil north Indian towns—the last being Khargone, Madhya Pradesh, which followed the example set by UP. Everyone bound to the law wants miscreants brought to the book. But the law must play by the book—that is its highest purpose. The only thought civilian populations will be encouraged to harbour when they see JCBs moving into certain neighbourhoods—that too right after a riot—is that the entire system is biased against certain sections of Indians. And that even the sacred protection of due process will be jettisoned in favour of a targeted punitive system, with the thinnest of legal veneers.

Luckily, the Supreme Court intervened and stayed the demolition in Delhi’s riot-hit Jahangirpuri. But not before quite a few houses and shops had been pulled down. All ostensibly to remove encroachments. In the process, a juice shop owner with a legitimate MCD licence lost his livelihood, another whose shop was within a mosque also suffered losses. An old man whose house was pulled down didn’t know where to get a roof over his family’s head. Heartwrenching stories of similar collateral damage thickened an already intolerably hot Delhi summer air. If there were rampant encroachments in Jahangirpuri, why did the municipal body not act earlier? Why right after a riot? Is Jahangirpuri the only place in Delhi with encroachments? Even in Khargone, the bulldozers came out right after a Ramnavami riot. The incidents bring no glory to the nation. Those who hold institutions must remember that compromising their integrity will bring long-term corrosive damage to the very thing they profess to hold dear. That is India.

SHOT DOWN AGAIN, IT’S TIME TO MOVE ON

There has been quite a bit of consternation among the sports fraternity in the country for a while. Shooting and wrestling, two sports in which India has won medals at the Olympics, do not feature in the preliminary itinerary for the 2026 Commonwealth Games to be hosted at various venues across Victoria, Australia. Wild assumptions and conspiracy theories dotted the discussions. The Indian Olympic Association (IOA) called it “grave injustice”. Yes, there is a possibility that shooting could be added to the 16 sports that have been shortlisted after a review but things would be complicated. There were calls of boycott of the Commonwealth Games when shooting and archery were left out of the Birmingham Games later this year. The Commonwealth Games Federation (CGF), the IOA and the respective National Sports Federations came out with a compromise formula and agreed to host the events in India before the Games in July. However, because of Covid, this was cancelled. Though there has been criticism, interestingly, there have been no such boycott calls this time. That shooting has been ignored again also shows how much say the IOA has in the CGF after the 2010 Delhi Commonwealth Games.

Shooting has been facing an existential crisis because of its lack of marketability and popularity. Even at the Olympics. The competitiveness is fierce but it lacks the ingredients of a TV-friendly product. There are also the questions of sustainability and infrastructure cost. Australia has a strong shooting tradition. But the country decided against it, showing its intention of accommodating more spectator-friendly and youth-oriented sports like beach volleyball and T20 cricket. Shooting has yielded India 135 medals in the Commonwealth Games (63 gold, 44 silver and 28 bronze). This also shows a lack of competition. Perhaps, it’s time for India to move on. Instead of playing the injured party card, it can concentrate on disciplines like athletics, swimming, cycling and gymnastics—sports that would ultimately benefit India at the Olympics too.

The story of wrestling is different. It did not feature even at the 2006 Melbourne Games and it was easy for Australia to drop it in 2026 too. As a sport, it’s not very popular among Commonwealth nations in Africa, Oceania and the British Isles. While shooting may get a look in, wrestling doesn’t have much of a chance.

Did Lever or Tata succeed in the transformation purely because of their strategies? Largely, yes. If someone else followed the same actions, can success be assured?

THE ROLE OF LUCK IN ORGANISATIONAL TRANSFORMATION

SOUMYADIP SINHA

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Author and business commentator

How important is luck to achieve transformation goals? Luck is controversial. Some believe that reliance on luck makes people easy-going. Others believe that luck is an indisputable reality. But change agents should not rely on luck to deliver results. The reality is that we must do our very best, come what may. Luck may play a negative or positive role in the result.

Kent Evans and Bill Gates were very close at school, both computer geeks. Evans died prematurely in a mountaineering expedition, while Gates went on to found Microsoft. Bad luck for Evans, but surely not good luck for Gates. In the film A Streetcar Named Desire, Stanley Kowalski (played by Marlon Brando) said, “You know what luck is? Luck is believing that you are lucky, that’s all…to hold a front position in this race, you’ve got to believe that you are lucky.” Was he right?

Psychologists have identified four moods produced by luck. If we have bad luck, we feel that we had no control over that event. If we have good luck, we believe that our actions had a lot to do with the result. If someone else has good luck, we feel jealous. If another person has bad luck, we may feel a mean sense of joy, what the Germans call schadenfreude. The absence of causality in matters concerning luck is clear to the discerning.

Every month since August 2020, I have written on organisational transformation. The greatest challenge that leaders face—whether companies, hospitals, clubs or governments—is how to adapt to a rapidly changing environment. Leaders were required to possess intelligence (IQ) before the 1980s; then came the era of empathy (EQ), but, of late, there seems to be a tendency towards adaptability (AQ). For leaders of tomorrow to possess high IQ and EQ as well as AQ is surely the future challenge of leadership. In this series, I have touched upon pitfalls to be avoided, people strengths that should be leveraged and illustrated the principles through the examples of how Hindustan Unilever and Tata responded to challenges posed by liberalisation.

Did Lever, Tata or any other organisation succeed in the transformation purely because of their strategies? Largely, yes. If someone else followed the same actions, can success be assured? Not assuredly. Transformation programmes do not follow the laws of physics, so there is no cause-and-effect relationship between inputs and outcomes. To quote Sir Isaac Newton, “I can calculate the movement of the stars but not the madness of men.”

In great companies, continuous adaptations over decades have produced the dramatic and compounded effect of adaptability. We should not underestimate the benefits of compounding over a long period of time. Warren Buffet created wealth by investing cleverly over a long period of time—most of his wealth accumulated from the time factor, not the cleverness factor. That is not plain luck.

Independent India has successfully executed multiple transformation programmes. With the hindsight of time, India has been reasonably successful with these programmes, a privilege not applicable to its South Asian neighbours, who sought immediate pleasure in the arms of China. Some examples of India’s success are a constitutional democratic framework, five-year planning schemes, population control programmes, green revolution for food grains, white revolution for milk and so on. All imperfect but bearing positive signs of sustainable success. Debates will, of course, be ongoing.

Recently launched public transformation programmes are doubling farmer incomes by 2022, achieving GDP of $5 trillion by 2025, improving ease-of-doing business on the ground, and more effective cooperative federalism between the Union and the states, just to name a few. Not enough time has elapsed and, anyway, there has been the bad luck of Covid, lockdowns and the Ukraine war.

It is useful to contemplate the role of luck in transformations. One published study in 2018 examined the impact of luck versus talent. The study showed that sometimes the most talented individuals are not the most successful. Individuals with a ‘median’ level of talent, but who enjoyed luck, experienced higher success. A paper by Cornell University suggested that while Western culture places a high value on effort, talent and risk-taking, a large proportion of success can also be attributed to luck and random chance (Boyer Law Firm Blog, 11 March 2021).

In another article titled Are Great Companies Just Lucky? (HBR, April 2009), the authors asserted that the high-performing companies owe their success to luck, not smart practices. The analytically oriented consulting firm, McKinsey, however, argued that there are indeed seven principles for achieving transformational growth (McKinsey Insights, 22 April 2021).

These are a bewildering array of conclusions and hypotheses. That is the reason why managers should reflect on what luck is, whether there is a difference between ‘earned’ luck and ‘unearned’ luck, does luck play a role, and how should a change agent think about luck? These are worth exploring in the next few articles, and I propose to do so.

In my book titled Six Lenses, published in 2016, I had devoted a whole chapter to the subject of luck. A reader from Goa criticised me for doing so, considering that I bear credentials of being an educated and enlightened student of physics, engineering, and management. Why not devote a couple of columns to the subject?

UGC’S TWO DEGREE DECISION AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

AMRUTH G KUMAR

Professor, School of Education, Central University of Kerala

The University Grants Commission (UGC) has now legitimised the pursuance of two degree programmes parallelly for undergraduate and postgraduate students. The move is in line with the suggestions of the National Education Policy 2020. But nowhere in the 66-page document of NEP 2020 does it explicitly say that students should be given the opportunity to pursue two degrees simultaneously. Rather, it emphasises the need for higher education to be more flexible in order to develop the abilities of students to help them in an increasingly automated society.

We are now on the threshold of the Fourth Industrial Revolution, the NEP 2020 posits. Exponential growth and application of technology have led to changes in all spheres of life. This will impact the restructuring of the manufacturing and distribution sectors drastically. Artificial intelligence and the internet of things are adding fuel to the changes that are already underway. As a result, many jobs in the labour market and the skills associated with them may fizzle out in course of time. For example, it will not take long for LPG to reach our kitchens through pipelines. In that case, those in the allied sectors, including gas cylinder supply workers, will have to migrate to other occupations. Such changes are applicable to all job sectors. Given the unpredictability of the pace at which such changes are taking place, layoffs will hit the economy hard. To grapple with this catastrophe, the labour force must have the ability and willingness to find their feet in another, related, job sector. The only way to make it happen is through lifelong education and thereby continuous renewal of work skills. Modern societies place the entire responsibility of dealing with such crises on the citizens themselves. Absolute freedom is the remedy given to the citizen to deal with such issues. The most important of these is to further liberalise end-user freedom in higher education. NEP 2020 put on the table many such student-friendly suggestions including the Multiple Entry Exit option and Academic Bank of Credit system.

Another advancement that falls within this category is allowing UG and PG students to pursue two degrees parallelly. However, research students are not given this privilege. It was once illegal to pursue two degrees together. A judgment of the Calcutta High Court in 2010 is one example. The parallel dual degree system is a great opportunity in a competitive world. At the same time, governments and institutions of higher learning must ensure social justice is part of this new move.

To help students pursue two degrees simultaneously on a regular basis, educational institutions need to rearrange their working times. If a person wants to get two degrees from other departments in the same college, the working hours of both departments need to be set accordingly. If the student is trying to get a degree from another college, time and distance matter. Therefore, one is not sure about the practicability of working towards two degrees at the same time. Another way is to do one degree online and another on a regular basis. As part of this, the UGC has listed some universities that are eligible to offer online degrees. Many institutions are in the queue as well. If universities start offering degrees online, there is a possibility of a huge influx of students into them. This would turn into a huge source of funds generation for them as many would want to learn while working.

If universities decide to charge higher fees for more demanding courses, the prices of the degrees are likely to fluctuate like the costs of the goods in the market. The UGC shall have to be a price regulatory agency as well in future. And our traditional colleges may shrink into institutions where fewer students study courses on a regular basis. Moreover, the regular mode of education could become a luxury. Although the number of students studying directly on campuses will decrease, there will be a huge leap in enrolment in higher education.

There is no doubt that with the implementation of the new system, all students will face pressure, both direct and indirect, to enrol for two degrees. Perhaps students who have not done so can even end up as second-class citizens of the higher education system. The biggest hurdle that economically and socially backward students will face in making use of this opportunity is the availability of money. Expenses such as admission and exam fees may impose a large financial burden on students and parents. Although e-grants and other financial support are offered by states for students belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, the governments may conveniently place the financial responsibility of enrolment in a second degree on the shoulders of students and their parents. Would governments be willing to provide financial assistance for both degrees for deserving students? Will there be reservation for students belonging to deserving categories for the second degree? These questions need immediate attention to ensure our higher education system is rooted in social justice.

An analysis of the budgets of various states reveals that the education departments in most of them are already at the mercy of the finance department. With the implementation of the parallel dual degree system, special attention should be given by the government to economically and socially backward students to address any potential inequalities that may arise. If enrolling for a second degree becomes the sole responsibility of the students, in principle all of them will be pursuing a self-financing degree too. Even meritorious ones who get admission in public institutions will become students of a self-financed degree programme. So public-funded universities and higher education institutions have to offer the second degree as well with a subsidised fee structure, for which they definitely need the support of the state exchequer. Will that happen?

Tough times for Cong

This is with reference to 3 wise netas to take PK call (Apr 20). As Congress President Sonia Gandhi is inclined to include election strategist Prashant Kishor in the party, senior leaders like A K Antony, Ambika Soni and Mallikarjun Kharge are set to take a call on the proposal. The Congress is suddenly upbeat as Prashant Kishor is working out ways for the party to concentrate on seats where it stands a chance, 370 out of Lok Sabha’s total strength of 543. But even this will undoubtedly be a tall order for a party whose performance is steadily declining in every election.

S Lakshmi, Hyderabad

Depending on one person

It is a pity that the grand old party is taking the help of Kishor for improving its image and to fight the next Lok Sabha elections. The Congress has many veterans who have been in the party for decades and know the pulse of voters. Instead of depending on one individual, the party should utilise the services of its senior leaders.

S Ravindranath, Bengaluru

Covid comeback

The rise in the number of fresh Covid cases in many states across India after a lull is a cause for concern. Though the total number is not significantly high and the severity is low, the upward trend is definitely alarming. There is a laxity among people over observing Covid protocol. Apart from making the protocol in public places compulsory, all states and local governments should gear up their machinery to face the eventuality. Covid cannot be taken lightly even though Omicron has been less severe.

D V G Sankararao, Vizianagaram

Scaling greater heights

It gives us a sense of euphoria that India attracted $500 billion FDI and recorded an export revenue of $400 million, notwithstanding the pandemic, Russia-Ukraine war, economic crisis in Sri Lanka, politico-social economic catastrophe in Pakistan, etc. (400/500 formula, the start of our growth story, Apr 20). Our inherently robust economy being built in the last seven decades is all set to scale greater heights in terms of macroeconomics. Nevertheless, it is for the policymakers to ensure that the benefits of economic growth trickle down to the less-privileged sections of society by creating more employment opportunities and ramping up the purchasing power of the common man.

Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Will CM walk the talk?

Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has rightly condemned targeted killings in the state. Will he and his party CPM disown the party’s rank and file who were convicted for murders and violence?

BULLDOZERS AT WORK AMID CRIES OF ANGUISH

A bulldozer in action in Delhi's Jahangirpuri area on Wednesday | PARVEEN NEGI

IT was another unpleasant morning for residents in Delhi's Jahangirpuri area. Fresh from experiencing communal riots, they woke up to the sight of bulldozers demolishing some of the 'encroachments'. This included shops, the source of livelihood for many.

Around 15 identified locations were demolished by the municipal corporation. The entrance of a mosque was also damaged.

Despite a Supreme Court order stopping the demolition drive, it went on for over two hours and stopped when CPI-M leader Brinda Karat stood in front of a bulldozer.

Late on Tuesday night, the Municipal Corporation of Delhi had announced it would conduct an encroachment removal programme in Jahangirpuri. At least 400 police personnel including women officers had gathered in the area early on Wednesday morning to maintain law and order.

At 10 am, around 70-80 MCD officials and workers reached the spot surrounding it from two sides. This is a minority-dominated area. Before the locals realised what was happening, bulldozers were pressed into action. The MCD officials also removed carts used to carry and sell fruits.

There was a big crowd on the roads by then. Owners of the demolished shops pleaded with the MCD officials. "Have mercy on us. God will not forgive you. What all will you do in the name of religion," cried some of the voices.

The demolition drive started with some "encroachments" on the road. After that, a paan shop was flattened. The bulldozers then moved to destroy a small cart owned by Pawan Jha, who sells paan and cigarettes. "We came to know in the morning that they are going to demolish things. Ours was a movable cart which I could have taken away but they did not listen to me. I asked them thrice if I should remove my cart but they did not listen and destroyed it," said Jha.

Rahima, who sells cold drinks, said she was not informed about the drive. "No one said a word. I requested several times but it was of no use. For two years, Covid did not let us live. I wonder how my children will celebrate Eid."

On Tuesday, mayor Raja Iqbal Singh had said the demolition drive will be conducted on illegal encroachments of those accused in the riots. However, when this daily tried to reach out to him on Wednesday evening, he did not respond.

Johnson and Modi to discuss trade and defence ties

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

FACING heat in his country over 'partygate' in lockdown times, British Prime Minister Boris Johnson will begin his two-day India trip on Thursday with a visit to the Gandhi Ashram in Ahmedabad. He will fly to New Delhi on Friday and meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi, after which the two leaders are likely to make some announcement around bilateral trade and partnerships.

"I will be travelling to India to deepen the strategic trade, defence and people-to-people ties between our two countries, building on India's involvement in the Carbis Bay G7 Summit," Johnson told the House of Commons on the eve of his visit.

Earlier this week, the British PM had said his visit "will deliver on the things that really matter to the people of both our nations – from job creation and economic growth to energy security and defence".

Johnson's visit is expected to push the FTA negotiations. He will also meet Indian business leaders investing in the UK and visit British investments in the country.

While the Russia-Ukraine conflict will also be on the agenda, the UK has said it will refrain from 'lecturing' India over its neutral stance in the UN or Russian oil imports. "The PM has been keen to make this trip to build our partnership across trade, investment, security and defence," his spokesperson said.

India: Humanitarian situation in Ukraine has turned worse

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA has informed a UN Security Council meeting that the humanitarian situation in Ukraine has deteriorated since the world body discussed it last month.

"From reports coming out of Ukraine, women and children have been disproportionately impacted and they form the bulk of the people who have moved to neighbouring countries and displaced internally in Ukraine," says India's Deputy Permanent Representative to the UN, R Ravindra.

India has also requested a safe passage to deliver humanitarian aid. "We support calls urging for guarantees of safe passage to deliver essential humanitarian and medical supplies, including through establishment of permanent humanitarian corridors. We hope the international community will continue to respond positively to the evolving humanitarian requirements," Ravindra said.

India has been sending humanitarian aid in the form of medicines and essential supplies to Ukraine and its neighbours. India is in the process of providing more humanitarian supplies to Ukraine in the days ahead.

"The impact of the situation is felt beyond the region with increasing food and energy costs, especially for developing countries. It is in our collective interest to work constructively both inside the UN and outside, towards seeking an early resolution," he added.

PM renames WHO chief Tulsibhai, bats for Ayush visa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Ahmedabad

WORLD Health Organisation chief Tredos Adhanom Ghebreyesus has a Gujarati name: 'Tulsibhai,' given to him by none other than PM Narendra Modi at The Global AYUSH Investment and Innovation Summit in Gandhinagar.

Calling the WHO chief "a good friend," Modi referred to WHO Director-General's remark to him: "I have become a pakka Gujarati now. Give me a Gujarati name." Amid laughter from the audience, Modi called Tredos 'Tulsibhai.'

That set the tone of the PM's speech. Tulsi is an effective medicinal herb used to treat various ailments, Modi recalled. "In ancient times, when there was hardly any chemical drug, herbs like Tulsi were used to treat wounds and other aches and infections."

The plant has been worshiped in Indian culture for centuries. Turning to the WHO chief, the PM said: "On this land of Mahatma Gandhi, I have great pleasure to call you Tulsibhai." India is known for medical tourism, the PM said. "If foreign nationals want to come to India and avail of AYUSH treatment, the government is ready to introduce an AYUSH visa category, which will make such people's travel easier," Modi said.

"Heal-in-India can become a big brand in this decade. Wellness centers based on Ayurveda, Unani and Siddha can be very popular," he said. The PM also referred to Ayurveda's success story as told by former Kenyan Prime Minister Raila Odinga about his daughter Rosemary regaining her sight after Ayush treatment. Rosemary Odinga was present in the audience and the Prime Minister introduced her to the gathering.

Thakur and team at it

Achievements of the Modi government will be highlighted in the report card. A team including Union minister Anurag Thakur is preparing the report, which will include facts and figures comparing the BJP government with previous governments

Achievement list

Evacuation of medical students from Ukraine, Covid-19 vaccination drive, free food grain scheme, housing projects, scheme for farmers and abrogation of Article 370 from Jammu and Kashmir will figure in the list of achievements of the Modi government

BJP to present report card on eight years of Modi rule on May 26

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@ New Delhi

COME May 26 and the BJP will be out with a list of achievements in the eight-year rule of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He took oath as the country's 14th prime minister on May 26, 2014.

A team of senior BJP leaders, including Information and Broadcasting Minister Anurag Thakur, is monitoring the draft of the "elaborate and informative report card," sources said. "It may highlight comparative facts and figures vis-a-vis previous non-BJP governments," said a source. This team is working on gathering information and data.

A separate chapter may also take up the country's foreign policy and the popularity ratings of the prime minister as a global leader.

A series of significant steps such as the evacuation of medical students from Ukraine, free food grain scheme, Covid vaccination drive, the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojna, Kisan Samman Nidhi and abrogation of Article 370 from J&K will figure prominently.

"The team is appraising the government's performance on various welfare schemes for empowering SC/STs, OBCs, women and the youth," said a party source.

"If everything goes as per plan, there will be a big event to release the report card in the media on May 26. The BJP may invite the PM to present the report either at BJP's central office or any other auditorium," said a BJP source.

The evacuation of around 17,000 Indian medical students, plus those from Nepal and Pakistan, under Operation Ganga from war-hit Ukraine is likely to get a prominent display, sources said.

Details of the prime minister's dream railway projects such as the Vande Bharat express train, the transformation of railway stations and the Bullet trains have also been sought.

Supreme Court lists plea on non-payment of MGNREGA wages

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday agreed to list a plea alleging non-payment of wages to lakhs of workers under the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act, 2005 (MGNREGA).

The plea by advocate Prashant Bhushan said these workers are facing a grave crisis because of this. It added that as of November 26, 2021, the state governments were facing a shortage of ₹9,682 crore and 100% of the allocated funds for the financial year had been exhausted, with five months remaining. "This is a gross violation of the law," the petition states.

The plea sought urgent directions to redress this situation and provide relief to lakhs of rural poor. The petitioner also sought directions from the court to provide 50 'additional days of employment' under the Act to each household, and to allow registration of demand for work directly on the official website.

The petition mentioned that the Act provides guaranteed wage employment of at least 100 days for every rural household. It says this is the most important provision to be fulfilled. "It allows households facing distress due to unemployment, underemployment, or other economic hardships to get at least 100 days of work at the wage rate stipulated by the government, and use the wage for survival and basic income security," the plea said.

The plea notes that achievement of these objectives is dependent on work being provided as per the law. "If work is not provided as per the guarantee, all the other aspects of this comprehensive social safety net fail to be realised."

The petition contends that the value of the scheme increases exponentially during times of calamities and disasters, and therefore it is even more important in such times that the workers can secure their entitlements under the law seamlessly. "MGNREGA makes provisions for additional days of employment in times of disaster and calamity."

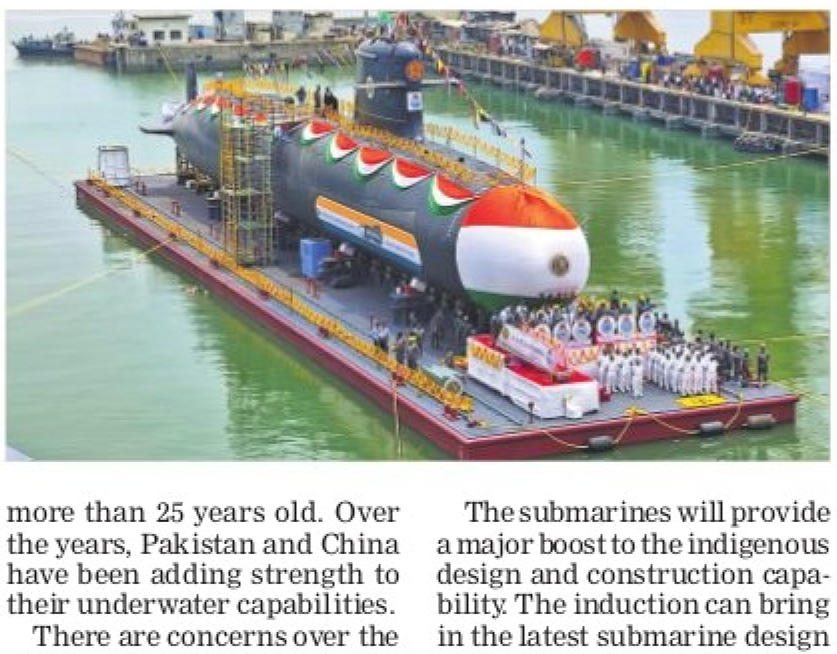
Last of the six indigenously built submarines launched

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi



THE last of the six indigenously built Scorpene class submarines had a ceremonious launch on Wednesday. The government is yet to decide on the next advanced indigenous submarines in equal numbers.

"The sixth and last submarine of the Indian Navy's Kalvari class submarines of Project-75 has been launched at the Kanhoji Angre Wet Basin of Mazagon Dock Ltd," said an Indian Navy statement. It is manufactured jointly with France's Naval Group.

In keeping with Navy's traditions, the submarine named 'Vagsheer' was launched by Veena Ajay Kumar, wife of Dr Ajay Kumar, Defence Secretary ,who was the chief guest at the ceremony. The submarine will commence working on various equipment and their harbour trials. The crew will thereafter sail for the rigorous 'sea acceptance trials' after which the submarine would be delivered to the Navy by late next year.

The inclusion of the six submarines comes at a time when most of the 15 conventional submarines with India are more than 25 years old. Over the years, Pakistan and China have been adding strength to their underwater capabilities.

There are concerns over the delay in extending the Project-75. Even if it is given the go-ahead now, it might take another two years to make the beginning, says Commodore Anil Jai Singh.

Project-75(I) envisages indigenous construction of six modern submarines with contemporary equipment, weapons and sensors including air independent propulsion, advanced torpedoes, modern missiles and state-of-the-art countermeasure systems.

The submarines will provide a major boost to the indigenous design and construction capability. The induction can bring in the latest submarine design and technologies as part of the project. "While P-75 is reaching the end of its cycle, the contract for the next six should have been signed as it would lead to a gap of a few years again till the next set of submarine construction starts," says Commodore Singh, a former submariner.

The contract for P-75 was signed in 2005 after a gap of 11 years since 1994 when India manufactured two German submarines.

Two CMs want PK in party, Cong still to decide

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE committee constituted by Congress to look into the revival plan submitted by Prashant Kishor on Wednesday discussed possible roles for the poll strategist. There were deliberations on making him in-charge of strategy and alliances. Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and Chhattisgarh CM Baghel batted for Kishor being inducted into the party.

Sources said that Kishor is expected to make presentations for the next two days and the committee will conclude its deliberations after that and submit its report to Congress chief Sonia Gandhi.

"The committee discussing Kishor's proposals needed clarifications on a few points and he has been asked to join the meeting in the next two days. There is still uncertainty on whether he should join the party or work as a consultant. We will have some clarity on this very soon and the final decision will be taken by the Congress president," said a party leader.

Gehlot and Baghel, who were invited to join the deliberations, shared their views on Kishor coming on board to revive the party and strengthen the organisation. Gehlot said Kishor is a "brand" and he has worked with several parties on election strategy and communication.

RS Surjewala, the party's media in-charge, said talks focussed on ways to strengthen the organisation, how to connect to the largest number of masses and prepare for upcoming assembly elections and the 2024 Lok Sabha elections. "Deliberations will conclude in the 48-72 hours," he said.

Traditional attractions and new places

Most of the tourists are visiting the popular places like Shimla, Manali and Dharamsala. The tribal district of Lahaul and Spiti has also emerged as a tourist hotspot, especially after the opening of Atal Tunnel in 2020. The state government is also promoting religious tourism and adventure sports to attract more visitors. Not just the hotels, home-stay arrangements are also in demand, especially on the weekends. Officials estimate that the number of visitors will increase as the mercury keeps soaring in nearby places like Punjab and Delhi

In search of cooler climes: Summer leads to rush of tourists in Himachal

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

ALL roads lead to Himachal Pradesh! The state has witnessed a sudden surge in the number of tourists. This year itself, around 42 lakh tourists have visited the state, including nearly 27 lakh since the beginning of March.

A majority of the tourists are from northern India. Numbers were low in the last two due to the Covid-19 pandemic — 55 lakh in 2021 and 32 lakh in 2020. Before the pandemic, nearly 1.75 crore visitors used to come to Himachal per year.

Amit Kashyap, Director of Tourism and Managing Director of Himachal Pradesh Tourism Development Corporation, said tourists are coming also because of the early onset of summer. "This kind of tourist footfall in the first three and-a-half months of the year is the highest in the last four years. Hotel occupancy is around 80 per cent," said Kashyap.

MK Seth, the president of Tourism Industry Stakeholders Association, said especially on weekends, tourists from Haryana, Punjab and Delhi visit Himachal. While the bigger hotel chains are doing good business, home-stay arrangements are not doing bad either.

Ashwani Bamba, the president of Dharamsala Hotel and Restaurant Association, said there is heavy rush on weekends and all kinds of accommodations are in demand. There are around 1.25 lakh hotel rooms in the state.

Bounty announced on riot accused, withdrawn later

CM Chouhan asks police to ensure upcoming festivals are peaceful

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE Khargone district police on Wednesday announced awards of ₹10,000 each on 106 absconding men in connection with the April 10 Ram Navami communal violence. But the order was withdrawn later.

The men on whose arrests the bounty was announced include Nawaz and Mohsin, against whom National Security Act has been invoked.

Explaining the decision to withdraw the notice, Khargone district PRO Pushpendra Waskale said, "The list has been withdrawn as it was erroneous. A fresh list will be released later," he said.

According to IPS officer Ankit Jaiswal, who is posted in Khargone, 63 cases have so far been lodged across Khargone district, out of which 57 have been registered in Khargone town. "So far 159 persons have been arrested based on video footage and eye witness statements." Jaiswal added the police have got a crucial lead in the April 10 killing of local municipality staff Ibarish Khan.

Two men identified as Waseem alias Mohsin and Irfan, have been booked for the attack on Khargone SP Siddharth Chaudhary, who sustained bullet and sword injuries. Chaudhary, his gunman and vehicle driver were injured in the attack on April 10 evening.

In the aftermath of the communal clashes, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has asked the state police to revamp intelligence-gathering and ensure that upcoming festivals are passed off peacefully.

"By when can you submit a detailed plan for streamlining the present intelligence system into a robust one," Chouhan asked additional director general (ADG-Intelligence) Adarsh Katiyar at a meeting of top police officers. "There should be zero tolerance towards communal violence. You've handled the Hanuman Jayanti-related events and processions very well. Now, you've to ensure that Parshuram Jayanti and Eid also pass off peacefully," Chouhan told the cops.

The CM's order, seen as an admission of the police's failure to foresee the violence during Ram Navami, comes at a time when opposition Congress has been mounting attacks on the BJP government over its failure to rein in rioters.

In trouble over BJP link: Muslim family

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

A Muslim family in Jabalpur district of Madhya Pradesh has alleged harassment by a section of the community over its association with the BJP for past 35 years. They claimed that a section of their community had warned them to sever ties with the party or else be ready to face a social boycott and a ban from offering namaz in the mosque.

Muzammil Ali, the general secretary of BJP minority cell in Jabalpur, and some of his family members met MP's Home Minister Narottam Mishra in Bhopal on Wednesday and raised the matter with him. Mishra called up the district police brass and directed them to take stern action.

Muzammil alleged that one of the family members was even assaulted for maintaining links with the BJP even after the Ram Navami violence and the subsequent "one-sided" action by the authorities in Khargone.

"My uncle Azad Ali has twice been the BJP minority cell's Jabalpur city chief in the past. Even after the Babri Masjid demolition and the Gujarat riots, no one from our community objected to our family's association with the BJP. But since April 15, my family is being constantly targeted by some members of our community led by local mosque committee members Abrar Ali and Mehboob Ali. My uncle was attacked by the duo's supporters," he alleged.

Muzammil added that things had worsened after the recent communal violence across the country and the bulldozing of "illegal properties/encroachments" of the alleged rioters.

The family members hoped the police would take action. "If the police don't act promptly, then our lives will be in danger. All we want is our safety," Azad Ali said.

₹20,000 CR LOCO PROJECT IN STIR-HIT TRIBAL DIST

Prime Minister Narendra Modi addresses a public meeting in Gujarat's Dahod | EXPRESS

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

AMID agitations in Gujarat, particularly over the Par-Tapi-Narmada river linking project, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday sought to strike a chord with the tribal community spearheading the protests, recalling the days he had spent in the state's tribal areas and promising massive investments.

Announcing that an electric locomotive manufacturing plant with an investment of ₹20,000 crore would be set up in the tribal-dominated Dahod district, the PM said it would provide jobs for the tribal youth. "The 'double engine' government of Centre and state is working for the tribal areas. Dahod is going to be a big part of Make in India with an investment of ₹20,000 crore. It will facilitate jobs for our tribal youth," Modi said.

"Dahod will fulfill the demand of electric locomotives not only in India but across the world. A new Dahod will be made," said Modi.

Dahod is located in eastern Gujarat and is at the tripoint between Gujarat, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh. The population of the district is mostly rural, and most of the district's residents are tribals, mostly Bhils.

The region was in the news recently after tribals protested against the river-linking project. It envisages transferring "surplus" water from the Western Ghats in Maharashtra to Saurashtra and Kutch in Gujarat.

With the state Assembly polls later this year, the protest against the project in south Gujarat is gaining momentum. According to the tribal community, hospitals and schools in tribal areas across Gujarat are in a dilapidated condition. Community leaders say the land belonging to the tribal community was being usurped for various projects.

MAJOR INFRA WORKS AWAIT LAUNCH IN J&K

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SEVERAL projects are lined up for launch during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's first visit to Jammu and Kashmir after the abrogation of Article 370.

Tight security is being put in place for the PM's visit in view of the recent targeted attacks by militants in the Valley and a blast in Udhampur in which one person was killed.

On April 24 the PM would participate in the Panchayati Raj Diwas in Jammu. Later, he would perform ground breaking ceremony of industrial projects worth ₹38,082 crore, launch two power projects and inaugurate Banihal-Qazigund tunnel.

The National Panchayati Raj Diwas would be organised at Palli Panchayat in Samba district and Modi would be addressing representatives of around 700 panchayats across the country virtually.

The PM would lay the foundation stones of 850 MW Ratle and 540 MW Kwar hydropower projects. Upon completion, these two projects would double the power generation capacity in the Union Territory.

Later, the PM would inaugurate 8.45-km-long Banihal-Qazigund tunnel on Srinagar-Jammu National Highway. Built at a cost of ₹2,027 crore, the twin-tube tunnel would reduce the journey time between the two cities by one hour. It has been built using the New Austrian Tunneling Method (NATM), which is considered the most advanced tunneling technology in the world.

Modi would also lay foundation stone of 4/6 lane access-controlled Delhi-Katra-Amritsar Expressway. The expressway would reduce travel from Delhi to Jammu and Katra by half. It would also reduce travel time to Srinagar and other tourist destinations in the Valley besides providing easy access to markets.

Besides, the PM will dedicate 100 Jan Aushadhi Kendras to the public.

Loudspeakers go silent at Mathura temple

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Shree Krishna Janmabhoomi Temple at Mathura is latest in the list of religious places where loudspeakers have gone silent in accordance with the Uttar Pradesh government's order to restrict the use of sound systems in public places.

The loudspeaker mounted on the spire of Mathura temple used to play Manglacharan Aarti daily from 5:30 am to 6:30 am. In compliance with the state government's directive that sound should be limited to the premises, the temple management switched off the loudspeaker.

Shree Krishna Janmasthan Sewa Sansthan secretary Kapil Sharma said the decision to switch off the loudspeaker was taken at a meeting of office-bearers on Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, neighbouring Guatam Buddh Nagar district police served 900 notices, including to managements of temples and masjids, over the use of loudspeakers.

"Notices were served on 602 temples out of 621; 265 mosques out of 268; 16 other religious places, 217 wedding halls and 175 DJ operators," police spokesperson of Gautam Buddh Nagar said.

These places were also asked to comply with the Allahabad High Court norms regarding sound amplification devices, the spokesperson added.

In another related development, Aligarh's BJP MLA Mukta Raja has written to Additional District Magistrate (ADM) seeking details of loudspeakers mounted on mosques in his constituency.

Raja has told the ADM to conduct physical examination of loudspeakers and sought a reply whether Azaan in the mosques before 5 am was in accordance with the directions of the high court. "If not, what action has been taken so far about this" he wrote.

According to Uttar Pradesh Pollution Control Board, loudspeakers should not be operated between 10 pm and 6 am and should be fitted with a 'sound limiter'.

U'khand MLA resigns, paves way for Dhami

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

WITH Champawat MLA Kailash Gehtodi tendering his resignation on Wednesday, it is almost certain that Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami will be contesting the by-election from the constituency.

Confirming Gehtodi's resignation, state BJP functionaries said a proposal regarding Dhami contesting the bypoll will be sent to party's central leadership for final approval.

"The possibilities of finalising the seat for the CM are being discussed," BJP media in-charge said.

However, the MLA's resignation has yet to be accepted by the Uttarakhand Assembly Speaker. As many as six BJP legislators have expressed willingness to vacate their seats to pave way for Dhami.

Despite failing to win the Khatima seat he contested, Dhami led the saffron party to bag 47 out of 70 seats in the Assembly, and the party decided to retain him as the chief minister.

Dhami had visited Banbasa town of Champawat district on April 1 and while addressing a public meeting there, he said he has a "special place in his heart" for the people of the district. This was seen as a build-up for his plans to contest from Champawat.

"The people of Champawat have showered their love on me and I am ready to serve them. The decision to contest election from here is up to the seniors of the party," Dhami had said.

CM effects major bureaucratic reshuffle

Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami has effected the first administrative reshuffle after assuming power for the second successive term in the state, transferring 21 IAS officers. In the bureaucratic reshuffle, Dhami seemed to be posing greater confidence in women officers, entrusting several of them with key responsibilities, including that of the post of secretary in the CMO. According to the transfer list issued late on Tuesday night, Dhami handed the charge of the CMO to Additional Chief Secretary Radha Raturi and that of the Health and Medical Education department to Radhika Jha.

Maha closely watching Covid trend

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

IN the wake of the Central government's advice to the state to monitor and control any emerging spread of coronavirus, Maharashtra Health Minister Rajesh Tope on Wednesday said the situation in the state is under control and there is no need to panic.

The Centre has advised Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Maharashtra and Mizoram to maintain a strict watch and take pre-emptive action, if required, in the areas of concern.

Tope, while claiming that the state is keeping a close tab on the situation, said they will make the "right decision at the right time".

He said that even though wearing a face mask is not mandatory in the state, senior citizens and persons with comorbidities must cover their faces when they venture outside as a precaution.

Maharashtra on Wednesday recorded 162 fresh coronavirus cases, more than half of them in Mumbai alone, while no new death linked to the infection was registered, the health department said. With this, the state's overall Covid tally rose to 78,76,203, while the death toll remained unchanged at 1,47,830.

"There were 137 cases (on Tuesday) in Maharashtra, including 85 in Mumbai. The state had earlier seen 60,000 cases a day. So, the present situation in the state is under control and there is no need to panic," Tope said. "The vaccination coverage is good and the state government is encouraging inoculation of children in the age groups of 12 to 15 and 15 to 18 years," he said.

7 of migrant worker family perish as fire engulfs hut

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

SEVEN members of a family of migrant labourers died after a fire gutted their shanty in Ludhiana on Wednesday.

Police said that the incident occurred near the municipal garbage dump yard on Tibba Road around 2 am when all seven, including five children, were sleeping in their makeshift shanty.

The fire quickly spread through the huge piles of rags, plastic and junk stored in the hut and the victims did not get a chance to escape.

The deceased have been identified as Suresh Sahni, 54, his wife Raur Devi, 50, their daughters Rakhi, 15, Meenakshi, 10, Chanda, 8, Geeta, 6, and two-year-old son Sunny.

Assistant Commissioner of Police (East) Ludhiana, Surinder Singh said Sahni and Devi were a migrant labourer couple from Bogopur village of Samastipur district in Bihar and they earned their livelihood from ragpicking. The cause of the blaze is yet to be established.

Their relatives have been informed about the incident and the bodies sent to the local civil hospital for post-mortem.

Ram Babu Sahni, a close relative of the victim family, said Suresh was planning to go to his native village in a day or so for his elder daughter's marriage, which was scheduled for April 30.

CMs of Assam, Arunachal meet

GUWAHATI: Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma met his Arunachal Pradesh counterpart Pema Khandu here on Wednesday and announced that the two states will form committees to resolve the long-standing border disputes.

This was the second CM-level meeting between the two states over the boundary issue. The two Northeastern neighbours had previously met over the issue on January 24 during which Arunachal Pradesh climbed down from its initial demand of transfer of 1,119.279 sq km land to 859 sq km.

"We decided to form district-level committees in both the states. The district committees will undertake joint surveys in the disputed areas to find tangible solutions to the long-pending issue based on historical perspective, ethnicity, contiguity, people's will, and administrative convenience of both the states," the Assam chief minister said. ENS

Record consumption of watermelons

Kashmir is consuming watermelon worth ₹5 crore per day after the onset of Muslim holy fasting month of Ramadan. The demand for watermelons in Kashmir has increased manifold after the start of the Ramadan. Muslims prefer to eat fruits and especially watermelon after breaking the fast in the evening. According to officials, the fruit mandi in Srinagar receives over 100 trucks of watermelons from Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat and Maharashtra everyday in Ramadan. In times other than the Ramadan, this is as low as 50 trucks of watermelon per day in the Valley before the start of Ramadan. Kashmir is one of the biggest consumers of watermelon in the country.

Night parking facility for aircraft at two airports

In a first, Srinagar and Jammu airports will offer night parking facilities for passenger aircraft from April 21. The Go First will be the first to avail the night parking facility at both airports. On April 1, authorities had announced a reduction by half in the application fees for night parking of helicopters in a bid to encourage charter flights. Helicopter operators would now have to pay ₹50,000 besides taxes along with the application for night parking permission. Providing night parking facilities to passenger aircraft at Srinagar airport has come after a sharp increase in flight operations recently. A record 106 flights operated at Srinagar airport on Tuesday.

City traffic police on challan spree

In Srinagar, traffic police have forwarded a whopping 70,000 challans – and counting – in the first three months of this year. The traffic police is curbing parking on many stretches in the city to ensure smooth flow of traffic. Police can be seen clicking pictures of vehicles parked on roads and later the vehicle owners receive online notification about fines imposed on them. Complaints have been rife that the city does not have sufficient parking and in such a scenario, drivers are forced to park vehicles on the road if they have to do some shopping. The traffic police is mulling to install Red-Light Violation Detection cameras at junctions to monitor those jumping red light.

Bengal govt sounds alert over intel on Maoists

THE West Bengal government has sounded high alert in the Jungle Mahal region following intelligence reports that Maoists are planning a major attack in the coming days. Apprehending that police personnel or political leaders could be the possible targets, the government has cancelled the leaves of police personnel for 15 days and cautioned Trinamool leaders against venturing out after 6 pm.

The alert message for the backward region is politically significant as Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee had claimed that her government completely controlled Maoist activities in the area and never missed an opportunity to portray it as her success by saying "Jungle Mahal is smiling".

"We have specific inputs about possible Maoists' attack in Jungle Mahal. They can target police personnel and political personalities as well," said an officer of state Intelligence Branch.

A week ago, an IED was found planted under a road which the CRPF was using for patrolling in Belpahari. "The explosive was found near our Laboni camp. It was planted recently suggesting the rebels' frequent movement in the area,'" said a CRPF officer.

The intelligence wing of the CRPF, which has 10 companies deployed in Jhargram district, corroborated the input.

"We spotted suspicious movements of people in the Bengal-Jharkhand border areas. We have intensified area domination and combing operations in the border area," said the officer.

Russia pressures Mariupol as it focuses on Ukraine's east

Mayor Vadym Boychenko urges people to leave city after agreeing to open humanitarian corridor | Russian forces intensify attacks on Ukraine's industrial heartland of Donbas

KYIV

RUSSIAN forces pressured a stubborn pocket of resistance in Mariupol amid renewed hopes Wednesday for an evacuation of thousands of civilians from the shattered port city that is a key battleground in Moscow's new onslaught to take control of Ukraine's eastern industrial heartland.

In addition to pounding Mariupol, Russian forces have intensified their attacks along a boomerang-shaped front hundreds of miles long in what is known as the Donbas, home to coal mines, metal plants and factories vital to Ukraine's economy.

If successful, the offensive would give President Vladimir Putin a badly-needed victory following the failed attempt by Moscow's forces to storm the capital, Kyiv, and stronger-than-expected resistance in the nearly two-month war.

Ukrainian troops said the Russian military dropped heavy bombs to flatten what was left of a sprawling steel plant, believed to be the last holdout of troops defending Mariupol, and hit a makeshift hospital where hundreds were staying. The reports could not be independently confirmed.

Elsewhere, Russian Defense Ministry said its forces kept up intense attacks on Ukrainian targets, hitting 1,053 with artillery and 73 with airstrikes. Ministry spokesman Igor Konashenkov also said there had been missile strikes on concentrations of Ukrainian troops and vehicles in the Kherson Region in southern Ukraine. Those claims could not be independently verified.

The General Staff of Ukraine's military said in a statement that taking control of the Azovstal steel mill and thus fully capturing Mariupol remains a top Russian priority. But it added that Moscow's forces were continuing to mount offensives across the east as its forces probe for weak points in the Ukrainian defensive lines.

A siege on Mariupol since the early days of the war has flattened much of the city on the Sea of Azov and inflicted some of the most dramatic suffering of the conflict, which has also pushed more than 5 million people to flee the country.

Deputy Prime Minister Iryna Vereshchuk said that there was a 'preliminary' agreement to open a humanitarian corridor for women, children and the elderly to leave Mariupol and head west to the Ukraine-controlled city of Zaporizhzhia on Wednesday afternoon.

Mariupol Mayor Vadym Boychenko urged locals to leave the city, though previous such agreements have fallen apart, with Russians preventing buses meant to pick up evacuees from entering the city or shelling escape routes.

"Evacuate to Zaporizhzhia, where you can receive all the help you need food, medicine, essentials and the main thing is that you will be in safety," he wrote in a statement issued by the city council. AP

Do not use Ukraine to frame us, warns China

Beijing: China's defence minister told his US counterpart not to "use the Ukraine issue to smear, frame, threaten or pressure China", following criticism of its perceived backing of Russia's invasion. Defence Minister Wei Fenghe's comments came days after a US senator said China must pay a greater price for backing Moscow. Wei also reiterated China's position on Taiwan, warning that if the "issue" was not handled properly, it would have a "destabilising impact on ties".

Refugees top 5 million as assault intensifies

WARSAW

AFTER spending weeks with no electricity or water in the basement of her family's home in Ukraine, Viktoriya Savyichkina made a daring escape from the besieged city of Mariupol with her 9- and 14-year-old daughters.

Their dwelling for now is a huge convention centre in Poland's capital. Savyichkina said she saw a photo of the home in Mariupol destroyed. From a camp bed in a foreign country, the 40-year-old book-keeper thinks about restarting her and her children's lives from square one. "I don't even know where we are going, how it will turn out," Savyichkina said. "I would like to go home, of course."

With the war in Ukraine approaching eight weeks, more than 5 million people have fled the country since Russian troops invaded on Feb 24, the UN refugee agency reported Wednesday. When the number reached 4 million on March 30, the exodus exceeded the worst-case predictions of the Geneva-based UN High Commissioner for Refugees.

The even bigger milestone in Europe's biggest refugee crisis since World War II was reached as Russia unleashed a full-scale offensive in eastern Ukraine. Ukraine had a pre-war population of 44 million, and UNHCR says the conflict has displaced more than 7 million people within Ukraine along with the 5.03 million who had left as of Wednesday. AP

Russia tests new nuke-capable missile

MOSCOW

THE Russian Defence Ministry reported the first launch of its new Sarmat intercontinental ballistic missile.

President Vladimir Putin said the weapon was unique and would make those who threaten Russia "think twice."

The ministry said the missile was launched on Wednesday from the Plesetsk launch facility in northern Russia and its practice warheads hit designated targets at the Kura firing range on the far eastern Kamchatka Peninsula.

The Sarmat is a heavy missile, intended to replace the Soviet-made Voyevoda missile which was code-named Satan by the West.

Putin and his officials said it's capable of penetrating any prospective missile defense.

The Russian president Putin called this "a big, significant event" for Russia's defense industry.

He said the Sarmat will ensure Russia's security from external threats and make those who, in the heat of frantic, aggressive rhetoric, try to threaten our country, think twice."

Russia relies on land-based ICBMs as the core of its nuclear deterrent, and is counting on the Sarmat for decades to come. AP

Cops restrict nationalists' Jerusalem march

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI police prevented hundreds of Jewish ultra-nationalist protesters from approaching Jerusalem's Muslim quarter on Wednesday to prevent more violence after weeks of tensions. More than a thousand ultra-nationalist demonstrators carrying Israeli flags gathered in the early evening in a square outside the Old City.

The police blocked hundreds of protestors from reaching Damascus Gate, which is the main entrance to the Muslim quarter of the city, according to AFP teams at the site.

Tensions have spiked in Israeli-occupied east Jerusalem amid nearly a month of deadly violence in Israel and the occupied West Bank, with the Jewish Passover festival coinciding with the Muslim holy month of Ramadan.

Among the demonstrators were supporters of far-right lawmaker Itamar Ben Gvir, a controversial opposition politician. Some demonstrators shouted "death to the Arabs".

Ben Gvir himself had been barred from the area earlier in the day by Prime Minister Naftali Bennett. "I have no intention of allowing petty politics to endanger human lives," Bennett said in a statement. "I will not allow a political provocation by Ben Gvir to endanger IDF (Israeli army) soldiers and Israeli police officers, and render their already heavy task even heavier." AFP

In a blow to Sri Lanka's Rajapaksa govt, 3 MPs withdraw support

COLOMBO

SRI LANKAN President Gotabaya Rajapaksa, who is under pressure to resign, was dealt a further blow on Wednesday when three more parliamentarians withdrew their support to the government.

Earlier this month, 39 lawmakers out of 156 MPs pulled their support to Rajapaksa in the 225-member Parliament. The breakaway group, which sits independently, has declared not to align with any other coalition, including the Opposition.

The independent group demands the formation of an all-party interim government with the resignation of the Rajapaksa family from power.

Sri Lanka Muslim Council (SLMC) Parliamentarian Faizal Cassim informed Parliament that he along with MPs Ishak Rahuman and M S Thowfeek will withdraw their support to the government.

The three MPs were part of the opposition Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB) coalition, including from the SLMC.

They had been Rajapaksa's allies since 2020 and voted for the controversial 20A which conferred absolute power on the President.

A heated exchange erupted on Wednesday morning when Parliament Speaker Mahinda Yapa Abeywardana denied a claim by main Opposition leader Sajith Premadasa that the Speaker told the party leaders that Rajapaksa was ready to resign if all party leaders requested him to do so.

Abeywardana, a member of the ruling coalition, said it was a misinterpretation by Premadasa. PTI

'Make public details of gifts received by Imran'

Islamabad: In a setback to Imran Khan, a Pakistani court on Wednesday ordered the government to make public details of the gifts received by the former prime minister from foreign dignitaries since assuming office in August 2018. Justice Mian Gul Hassan Aurangzeb of the Islamabad High Court issued the directive to the Shehbaz Sharif-led government after hearing two petitions ' one by a citizen seeking the implementation of the Pakistan Information Commission order, and the other by the Cabinet Division challenging that order. After a citizen approached the PIC to get details of the gifts, it directed the Cabinet Division to "provide the requested information about the gifts received by Khan from foreign heads of states, heads of governments and other foreign dignitaries". The information should be shared in 10 days. PTI

Solomon Islands defends new security pact

Bangkok: The Solomon Islands prime minister confirmed on Wednesday that his government has signed a new security agreement with China, but told lawmakers it would not 'undermine the peace and harmony of our region' as has been feared by the opposition and countries. The security pact allows China to send police and military personnel to the Solomon Islands 'to assist in maintaining social order', while also allowing Chinese warships to stop there for 'logistical replenishment'. AP

YouTube scraps channel promoting John Lee

Hong Kong: YouTube on Wednesday took down the campaign channel of Hong Kong's sole candidate to become its next leader, John Lee, citing compliance with US sanctions imposed against the former No 2 official. Lee had set up a Facebook page and a YouTube channel to promote his campaign, even though he is running uncontested in the election for chief executive on May 8, in which an Election Committee of about 1,500 people will select the city's leader. The committee is made up largely of pro-Beijing members, including legislators and representatives of different professions and industries in the city. Lee had been live-streaming his meetings with media and political figures in the city on both Facebook and YouTube. AP

Indonesia arrests teacher accused of raping students

BANDUNG

INDONESIAN police have arrested a teacher accused of raping at least 12 children over the last five years, an official said Wednesday. Police on the country's main island of Java detained the suspect last week after the parents of one child reported him to authorities.

The 39-year-old man is accused of sexually assaulting students aged between 10 and 11. The abuse took place after private tutoring sessions in the city of Tasikmalaya, according to local police chief Kusworo Wibowo. "His last victim was nearly raped but fought back. After that, the child refused to study the Koran with the teacher, which made his parents suspicious," Wibowo told AFP.

"The parents found out about the crime from their son and later reported it to police." Wibowo said the number of victims could rise as investigations continue. The suspect faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted, he added.

In February another teacher was sentenced to death for raping 13 students at an Islamic boarding school in nearby Bandung. AFP

Five dead in Polish coal mine accident

Warsaw: Five people were killed and seven more are missing following two gas explosions at a coal mine in southern Poland on Wednesday, the country's prime minister said. The company in charge of the Pniowek mine, JSW, said the first explosion took place shortly after midnight at a depth of 1,000 metres. There were 42 miners in the area of the blast and many suffered burns. A second explosion occurred while rescue workers were assisting the victims of the first. AFP

Bus explosion kills 1 in Turkey, 5 injured

Ankara: Assailants on Wednesday detonated a remote-controlled explosive device as a bus carrying prison guards was passing by, killing one of the guards, an official said. Five other guards were wounded in the explosion. The attack occurred in the district of Osmangazi, as the bus was transporting the guards to a prison in the region. "Our evaluation is that a hand-made bomb that was left beneath an electricity pole was detonated by remote control as the prison vehicle was passing by," said Bursa Gov. Yakup Canbolat. AP

UK court formally issues order to extradite WikiLeaks founder Assange to US

LONDON

A UK court on Wednesday issued a formal order to extradite WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange to the United States to face trial over the publication of secret files relating to the Iraq and Afghanistan wars.

The decision now rests with interior minister Priti Patel, although Assange may still appeal within 14 days of any decision to approve the extradition.

The ruling Wednesday by a magistrate in central London brings the long-running legal saga in the UK courts closer to a conclusion.

But Assange's lawyers have until May 18 to make representations to Patel and could potentially launch further appeals on other points in the case.

"No appeal to the High Court has yet been filed by him in respect of the other important issues he raised previously," his lawyers Birnberg Peirce Solicitors said in a statement last month.

"That separate process of appeal has, of course, yet to be initiated."

Assange was last month denied permission to appeal to the UK Supreme Court against moves to extradite him to the US, where he could face a lifetime in prison.

Washington wants to put him on trial in connection with the publication of 500,000 secret military files relating to the US-led wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In January last year, the 50-year-old Australian appeared to have won a reprieve on the grounds he was a suicide risk if he was kept in solitary confinement at a maximum security US facility.

But the US government appealed, and at a two-day appeal hearing in October its lawyers pointed to diplomatic assurances that Assange would not be held in punishing isolation at a federal supermax prison, and would receive appropriate care. AFP

Adani valuation just 12% away from RIL's

What took RIL, India's largest conglomerate, 13 years to achieve, Adani Group is almost there in 19 months

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

AHMEDABAD-BASED Adani Group has been in spotlight as the valuation of five of its seven companies has crossed the ₹1 lakh crore market cap mark, while the other two are on the threshold of achieving that milestone.

At a group level, the valuation is just 12% away from that of India's largest company Reliance Industries. And this at a pace that has left most analysts dumbstruck.

What took RIL, India's largest conglomerate, 13 years to achieve, the Ahmedabad- based Adani Group is almost there in 19 months.

Oil-to-telecom and retail behemoth RIL's valuation, excluding the relatively negligible market cap of smaller companies owned by it, rose from ₹1.89 lakh crore on March 12, 2009, to ₹17.87 lakh crore on April 19 , 2022.

Against this, transport, logistics and energy utility focused Adani Group has seen its valuation rise from the same amount of ₹1.9 lakh crore on August 3, 2020, to ₹15.91 lakh crore on April 19 this year.

"The sheer pace of the rise is stunning," said Rohit Khatri, research analyst, Religare Broking. "It shows that over the years as RIL diversified from energy into retail and telecom, Adani Group stuck to the infra utilities space and saw it's valuation soar from there."

In the 19 months under review, RIL's market cap jumped by 32% to ₹17.87 lakh crore.

In the same period, Adani Total Gas saw a 1,414% rise, which led the rise in the market cap, followed by Adani Enterprises (1,159%), and Adani Transmission (1,032%). Adani Ports, which nearly tripled on a higher base, contributed heft to the group valuation and Adani Green (₹4.02 lakh crore change) also performed exceptionally well. The difference in market caps between the Adani group and RIL was maximum in August 2020 and the rapid rise in share prices of the companies cited above caused the gap to narrow on a sustained basis. Meanwhile in a separate development, on Wednesday, Adani Group announced ₹10,000-crore investment in Bengal over next 10 years.

Adani Enterprises share on Wednesday rose over 1 percent ₹2,194, while RIL gained close to 3%₹to 2,717.5 on the NSE.

TAKEOVER BID

SBI RAPS FRL FOR ALLOWING RIL TO TAKEOVER STORES

RAM SAHGAL @Mumbai

EVEN as Future Group concluded e-voting of its shareholders on April 20 for getting their approval for the ₹25,700 crore merger with RIL, State Bank of India (SBI) , one of the main lenders to the group, raised concerns over takeover of Future Retail's (FRL's) stores by Reliance .

The concerns related to Future group having neither taken prior consent of lenders nor intimated them before surrendering the leases to the original landlords and entering into sub-leasing arrangement for the stores with Reliance Projects & Property Management Services Ltd (RPPMSL) .

On Feb 25 , Reliance took control of 800 stores subleased to FRL as the latter was unable to pay it rent on the same. The leases were taken over by RIL from the original landlords who FRL says terminated their leases over non-payment of dues. RPPMSL then subleased these to FRL.

"It is observed that the company has allowed the takeover of stores by RPPMSL without any demur and thereby seriously jeopardising the interest of the lenders ," the SBI letter to the Future Group says . TNIE has reviewed the letter's contents .

It also added sales of any assets lying in the stores should be used to settle the dues with lenders first and FRL should ensure value of stocks and assets is not depleted and is insured.

SBI has asked FRL to furnish it with advise on steps taken to safeguard the lenders' interest and on the efforts taken by it to get back the assets taken over by RPPMSL. Future Group did not respond to TNIE queries on the SBI letter .

The lender has said, "All the assets of the company and its businesses (including those in the stores where leases have been terminated by RPPMSL) including but not limited to stocks , goods , fixtures, fittings, including all current and fixed assets are charged to the lenders and are subject at all times to such rights , titles and entitlements of the lenders of the company." SBI also cited another lender Bank of India's public notice on March 15 cautioning against any alienation of assets over which lenders hold all rights and entitlements in lieu of the unpaid dues from FRL.

Meanwhile , results of evoting of shareholders and creditors on the scheme of amalgamation with RIL is likely to be informed to stock exchanges on April 21 .

FRL owed banks in excess of ₹17,000 cr in March. The payments depends on the merger deal with RIL going through, whose fate hangs in balance amid Amazon's opposition to the same on grounds of violation of its right of first refusal to Future selling its assets. The RoFR is part of an arrangement involving Amazon purchasing stake in Future Coupons in 2019, which gave it indirect stake in FRL .

TELECOM

DoT may not further cut 5G spectrum reserve price

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @NewDelhi

THE Department of Telecommunication (DoT) is likely to accept the recommendation of Trai on 5G spectrum pricing, and will not further reduce the reserve price as requested by the telecom service providers.

An official said the lowering the base price of 5G spectrum is not in the purview of DoT but with the cabinet. "I don't think the Department of Telecommunication will entertain the demand of telecom operators to further cut the base price. It is likely to accept the Trai's recommendation on pricing. Then it will go to the cabinet for final approval. It is up to them if they want to reduce it or not," said the official.

Telecom sector regulator Trai on April 11 came up with its recommendations for 5G spectrum auction, in which it recommended DoT to auction airwaves in all existing bands — 700 MHz, 800 MHz, 900 MHz, 1800 MHz, 2100 MHz, 2300 MHz, 2500 MHz and new slots of 600 MHz, 3300-3670 MHz and 24.25-28.5 GHz. It also suggested cutting the base price of 5G spectrum by 40%. The industry has expressed its disappointment at Trai recommendations on pricing. They said the rates are still the highest in the world. The Cellular Operator Association of India, which represents - Jio, Vodafone Idea and Airtel - said Trai has recommended 35-40% cut in prices against their demand of 90% lower rates. The government is planning to roll out the services by August 15 ,2022.

Staff union files plaint against Infy over non-compete law

SAMIKSHA GOEL @NewDelhi

AN IT employees' union has filed a complaint with the labour ministry against Infosys seeking removal of the non-compete clause from offer letter, which bans employees from working for the same customer in rival firms such as TCS, Accenture, IBM, Cognizant, and Wipro for six months after termination of employment.

The pune-based Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) claims to have received 65-70 complaints from employees of the company in the past one week.

The company's contract stated that for six months following the termination of employment, the employee won't accept job offer from any customer with whom they had worked in a professional capacity. They are also barred to take any offer from any named competitor of Infosys if it would involve them having to work with a customer, with whom they had worked in the 12 month preceding the termination of employment.

The 'Named Competitor', according to the company contract, includes TCS, Accenture, IBM, Cognizant and Wipro.

"The restriction contained in the employment letter, which is mentioned above is clearly in restraint of trade and, therefore, illegal under section 27 of the Contract Act," Harpreet Saluja, President of NITES, said in the complaint addressed to the Minister of State for Labour & Employment Bhupender Yadav. Sources in the industry said while the clause has been there for quite some time, it wasn't enforced and is now being enforced as talent war has gripped the industry owing to soaring attrition rates.

Infosys' voluntary attrition rate for the past 12 months stood at 27.7% at the end of March 31, 2022. It was 25.5% in the December quarter, and 10.9% for the quarter ended March 31, 2021. An Infosys statement said it is a 'standard business practice' in many parts of the world for employment contracts to include controls of reasonable scope and duration to protect confidentiality of information, customer connection and other legitimate business interests.

LTTS

Digitization is driving accelerated spends in ER&D and LTTS should benefit from it due to: 1) its strong capabilities, 2) multi-vertical presence, and 3) solid wallet share. The management expects strong growth in the medium term, which implies a growth momentum of ~20% over FY21-25E. We continue to view LTTS as a beneficiary of the growing penetration of ER&D. We expect LTTS to deliver strong revenue growth over the coming years and retain it as our top pick in the Tier II IT Services space. We have built in a 21%/24% USD revenue/INR EPS CAGR over FY22-24E.

Sensex, Nifty end five-day losing streak, gain 1%

India's key indexes ended their 5-day losing streak on Wednesday on the back of strong buying seen across heavyweights such as HDFC, Reliance (RIL) and Infosys. Positive clues in the global markets, especially in the Wall Street, also lifted sentiments in Dalal Street. The Sensex gained 574.35 points, or 1.02%, to close the Wednesday session at 57,037.50, while Nifty50 added 177.90 points to end at 17,136.55. Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Industries (RIL) share prices, after rising more than 3% on Tuesday, continued its upward trend and gained another 3% on Wednesday. In the 30-share Sensex pack, UltraTech Cement, Maruti, Reliance Industries, Asian Paints, TCS, Hindustan Unilever, Bharti Airtel, HDFC and Dr Reddy's were among the major gainers. In contrast, Bajaj Finance, ICICI Bank, Bajaj Finserv, Tata Steel and ITC were among the prominent laggards. In the last one week, equity market has remained under tremendous pressure following a sub-par quarterly show put up by IT giants TCS and Infosys and banking giant HDFC Bank. Foreign institutional investors also continued their selling spree, offloading shares worth ₹5,871.69 crore on Tuesday. ENS

Nissan discontinues Datsun brand in India

ARSHAD KHAN @NewDelhi

FOLLOWING the footstep of the US automakers like Ford and General Motors that exited the Indian passenger vehicle (PV) market, Japan's Nissan on Wednesday said it is discontinuing the Datsun brand in India. This withdrawal comes nine years after the brand had re-entered the market to capture a significant market share.

"Production of Datsun redi-GO has ceased at the Chennai plant (Renault Nissan Automotive India Private Ltd). Sales of the model still continue (till the stock lasts)," said Nissan India in a statement on Wednesday. The company had already stopped production of two other models under the Datsun brand.

"We can reassure all existing and future Datsun owners that customer satisfaction remains our priority, and we will continue to provide the highest levels of after-sales service, parts availability, and warranty support from our national dealership network," it added.

Datsun's exit from the domestic car market again shows how difficult it has been for global auto brands to stay relevant in India. In the last six years alone, automakers such as Ford, General Motors, Fiat, Harley Davidson, United Motors and MAN left the Indian market, citing poor sales.

Experts have time and again said abysmal product planning in a market where a single player (Maruti Suzuki) has a share of 40-50% since last one decade has primarily contributed to these shutdowns. Datsun, even though used to sell hatchbacks in the mass volume segment, in its journey could never come close to Maruti Suzuki or Hyundai sales.

Not only in India, Nissan discontinued the Datsun brand in Russia and Indonesia as part of its global transformation strategy launched in 2020.

Automakers that exit India

Datsun's exit shows how difficult it is for auto brands to stay relevant in India. In 6 years, automakers like Ford, GM, Fiat, Harley Davidson, United Motors and MAN left the market, citing poor sales

Venture Capital funding into SaaS firms to touch $6.5 billion this year

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

VENTURE Capital investments will continue to flow into SaaS (Software as a service) companies, and is projected to reach $6.5 billion this year, a 55% increase compared to last year's investments. Investments in Indian SaaS grew 3X to over $4.2 billion in 2021.

A report by Chiratae and Zinnov said that 90% (15 out of 17) SaaS start-ups have been accorded the unicorn status in the last four years. Companies such as Amagi, Uniphore, Hasura and Darwinbox have turned unicorns recently.

India is expected to leapfrog China and become the second largest SaaS nation by 2026. Also, Indian SaaS has garnered a lot of interest from international VCs over the years.

Sudhir Sethi, Founder and Chairman, Chiratae Ventures, said, "India is a global SaaS leader, and with over 35 SaaS companies in our portfolio like Uniphore, which recently raised $400 million and others like Pixis, Hevo Data, Healthplix, CropIn, Pando, Deepfence, and Squadcast that are valued over $3.5 billion and last year overall raised $600 million."

Chiratae predicts that investments in Indian SaaS will continue to grow at a massive pace with the revenue poised to cross $100 billion by 2026.

The report also pointed out that the next wave of digital talent will come from tier-2 and tier-3 cities, as cities like Vadodara, Jaipur, Coimbatore, Nagpur are fast emerging as the next hotbeds of digital and IT talent. It also said that the share of late-growth stage deals (Series C and beyond) grew to 39% in 2021 from 8% in 2015-17 period.

Cloud-Native is one of the key SaaS categories that will continue gaining traction and will shape the future of modern application development. Also, VC investments in Cloud-Native technologies are now crossing $7 billion in funding.

Pari Natarajan, CEO, Zinnov, said, "2021 was a watershed year for Indian SaaS – including exponential valuations, successful IPO debuts, a vast influx of VC investments, and an unprecedented number of unicorns."

Real estate market sentiment at record high

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @NewDelhi

DESPITE higher inflation concerns and chances of rising interest rate, sentiments in the real estate sector remains optimistic.

According to Knight Frank – National Real Estate Development Council (NAREDCO) Real Estate Sentiment Index Q1,2022, current sentiment soared to a new high of 68 – indicating that most stake holders experienced positive developments in their businesses in the past 6 months including the period of the survey. The survey noted that future sentiment score of 75 was at a historical best. This score indicates expectations of the investors for the next six months from the time of the survey. A score above 50 indicates optimism, 50 means neutral, while a score below 50 indicates pessimism.

Shishir Baijal, Chairman and MD, Knight Frank India said, "The growth in the residential market has been impressive, elevating the sentiments of the entire sector. As most companies start calling their staff back to work, office space demand has also been growing steadily"

Baijal, however, noted geopolitical tensions, impacting crude oil prices, are leading to a rise in inflation in Indian market, which can impact demand from end users.

The scenario is further complicated with supply chain disruptions, rise in input cost and an impending interest rate hike.

India's crude output falls 2.67% in 2021-22 fiscal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@NewDelhi

INDIA'S crude oil production fell 2.67% in the fiscal year ending March 31, according to the data released by the petroleum ministry on Wednesday. The reason for lower output is state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) produced less than the target.

Overall crude oil production at 29.69 million tonnes in 2021-22 (April 2020 to March 2022) was 2.63% lower than the 30.5 million tonnes output a year back and 11.67% below the target of 33.61 million tonnes.

Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) produced 19.45 million tonnes of crude oil in the fiscal FY22, which was 13.82 per cent lower than the target and 3.62 per cent less than the output in the previous fiscal year.

However, the natural gas output rose 18.66% to 34 billion cubic meters in FY22. The increase in the production is due to Reliance Industries Ltd and its partner BP Plc started output from newer fields in the eastern offshore KG-D6 block.

Meanwhile, Indian Crude Oil Basket price rose to $107.92 per barrel on April 19, 2022, at an exchange rate of Rs. 76.28 against the dollar, compared to $106.03 per barrel on April 18, 2022, at an exchange rate (Rs/$) of Rs. 76.37.

As per the Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell report, the price of Indian crude was $97.82 per barrel on April 11, 2022, at an exchange rate of (Rs/$) 75.96, indicating a $10.10 per barrel, or 10.32 per cent, rise between April 11 and April 19, 2022.

Kohli 'overcooked, needs a break', says Shastri

Virat Kohli is mentally "overcooked" and needs to take a break from cricket in order to serve the country for at least another six-seven years, feels ex-India coach Ravi Shastri. Kohli has been going through a lean patch with just two 40-plus scores to show in his last seven innings for Royal Challengers Bangalore in the current IPL season.

Wimbledon red cards Russians, Belarusians

AFP @ London

DANIL Medvedev is set to be barred from this year's Wimbledon Grand Slam tournament as The Times reported organisers are to ban Russian and Belarus players due to Russia's invasion of Ukraine. Russian and Belarusian players have been able to continue to compete in ATP and WTA events under a neutral flag since Russia invaded Ukraine on February 24.

It was believed this would extend to the three remaining Grand Slam events — though the ITF banned both countries' teams from the Davis Cup and the Billie Jean King Cup.

However, The Times says sources have told them that after almost two months of talks Wimbledon organisers prefer to ban the players rather than adhere to a compromise solution offered by the British government. That would have seen the likes of Medvedev and last year's Wimbledon women's singles semi-finalist Aryna Sabalenka of Belarus sign statements that they would not make supportive comments of Russian President Vladimir Putin or the war.

Wimbledon organisers believe signing such statements could impact negatively on the families of the players. The Kremlin reacted angrily to the reports deeming it "unacceptable". "Once again they simply turn athletes into hostages to political prejudice, political intrigues," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov told reporters. "This is unacceptable." "Taking into account that Russia is a very strong tennis country, our athletes are at the top of world rankings, the competition itself will suffer from their removal," he added.

It is likely that this ban will apply to all British grass-court tournaments this summer.

SUPER BOWL DELHI

Capitals' slow bowlers share six wickets, help team to nine-wicket win

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

TODAY'S MATCH
CSK VS MI
LIVE ON STAR SPORTS AT 7.30 PM, MUMBAI

EVEN as late as 6.00 PM on Wednesday, there was no confirmation on whether the match between Punjab Kings and Delhi Capitals would go ahead in Mumbai. Delhi, battling a mini Covid-19 outbreak, had another player (Tim Seifert) who had returned a positive test hours before the game. While Punjab had already turned up to Brabourne and were going through their final warm-ups, their opponents were conspicuous by their absence. They finally left the hotel after all other players cleared another round of tests in the afternoon.

The actual match, though, suggested that Delhi, some of whose members were masked up in the dug-out, came into the match well prepared while Punjab had to deal with all the chaos. Rishabh Pant & Co. have been searching for consistency and can use this result as a launchpad to make a push for the top four in the second half of the season. For Punjab, who further shortened an already anaemic lower middle-order by bringing in Nathan Ellis in place of Odean Smith, there will be more questions about their approach with the bat. For starters, they would like to win a toss.

They once again lost the toss (sixth in seven games) and it was the start of a chastening three hours or so. Much of the credit for that should go to Pant who brought on the spinners early on a strip that had something in it for the slower bowlers. Both Lalit Yadav (Shikhar Dhawan) and Axar Patel (Liam Livingstone) picked up powerplay wickets and the team in pink never really recovered.

While Axar completed one of the most economical spells in this edition (4-0-10-2), Kuldeep Yadav continued his upward trajectory with another assured performance (4-0-24-2). There was purpose in his stride, he extracted spin off the surface, he had the look of a man who was enjoying his bowling. No wonder, then, that he's the second leading wicket-taker with 13. In the end, the three spinners, put together, picked up 6/45 off 10 overs. Chasing 116, Delhi, powered by openers Prithvi Shaw and David Warner who added 83 runs in just 6.3 overs, romped home with nine wickets and 9.3 overs to spare. With the win, Delhi leapfrogged Punjab.

Brief scores: Punjab 115 in 20 ovs (Jitesh 32, Axar 2/10) lost to Delhi Capitals 119/1 in 10.3 ovs (Shaw 41, Warner 60 n.o).

World Cup: Archers in compound team final

ANTALYA: Indian archers qualified for the compound team final, assuring the country a medal in the World Cup Stage 1. The trio of Abhishek Verma, Rajat Chauhan and Aman Saini beat Britain 236-235. They will play France in the final. The compound women's team of Muskan Kirar, Avneet Kaur and Priya Gurjar lost out to Turkey to bow out.

Aakarshi & Priyanshu win CWG, Asiad trials

NEW DELHI: Aakarshi Kashyap and Priyanshu Rajawat are all set to be picked for the upcoming Commonwealth and Asian Games respectively after winning the women's and men's singles events at the Badminton Association of India's (BAI) selection trials on Wednesday. While Aakarshi beat Ashmita Chaliha 21-10, 17-21, 21-15, Priyanshu saw off Kiran George 21-15, 18-21, 21-10 to top the rankings at the national trials at the IG Stadium Complex. Aakarshi is set to join PV Sindhu in the CWG team as the second women's singles player, Priyanshu will get a chance to represent the country at the Asian Games and Thomas Cup. With Lakshya Sen and Kidambi Srikanth given direct selection due to their top 15 world ranking, Priyanshu, however, won't get a place in the CWG team.

Karnataka women lose against Railways

SAURASHTRA: Karnataka lost to Railways by 34 runs in the BCCI senior women's T20 trophy in Saurashtra on Wednesday. Though Chandu V scalped five wickets, Railways scored 155/7. The target proved too much as Karnataka only managed 121/6 with Shubha Satheesh top-scoring with 36 runs.

Liverpool 9-0 Man United for the season

LIVERPOOL: Liverpool embarrassed Manchester United for the second time this season to move top of the Premier League as Mohamed Salah struck twice in a 4-0 thrashing on Tuesday. Jurgen Klopp's men won 5-0 at Old Trafford in October and expectations of a similar rout were well-founded as Liverpool exposed the massive gulf between the sides.

ASIAN WRESTLING C'SHIPS

An MSD fan, Sachin bags bronze on debut

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

A RELUCTANT wrestler, Sachin Sehrawat, was a big MS Dhoni fan and wanted to be a successful wicketkeeper-batter like him. He even joined a cricket academy in Faridkot (Punjab) to pursue his dream. His father Virender Singh, who was with the BSF and posted at Faridkot then, however, wanted his son to follow some individual sports.

Sachin was unrelenting but eventually decided to switch to wrestling after coaches at his academy didn't give him enough opportunities with the bat during training. "My father suggested to take up wrestling. So I joined Baba Farid Kushti Akhara in Faridkot in 2012," Sachin, 25, told this daily from Ulaanbaatar, Mongolia after winning his first international medal, a 67kg bronze in the Greco-Roman category of the Asian Championships on Wednesday.

However, the journey was not easy as he failed to impress for quite a long period. He never managed to win medals in junior events and even thought of leaving the sport after continuous failures. "My seniors and family members motivated me not to give up. Their words comforted me and the hard work paid off as I started winning medals at the senior level," Sachin, a havildar with the Indian Army, said.

Sachin Sehrawat (L) & Harpreet Singh with coach Hargobind Singh (C)

After losing the quarterfinal to Meiirzhan Shermakhanbet of Kazakhstan 8-0 by a fall, Sachin, who trains at the Army Sports Institute in Pune, made a remarkable comeback in the bronze medal match to defeat Uzbek wrestler Mahmud Bakhshilloev 7-3 by a fall to finish on the podium on his Asian Championships debut. This was his second international outing after Dan Kolov — Nikola Petrov Tournament in Bulgaria earlier this year. Harpreet Singh (82kg) also bagged a bronze medal. The 29-year-old Harpreet from Punjab defeated Sejin Yang of Korea 4-2 in the quarterfinal but lost to Rasoul Sadegh Garmsiri of Iran 5-0 by a fall in the semifinal. His opponent in the bronze medal playoff, Jafar Khan from Qatar, however, didn't take the mat due to injury giving the Indian wrestler his first international medal since 2019 when he had bagged silver in the Asian Championships. This was his eighth appearance in the event and he has won four medals including one silver and three bronze. Both Sachin and Harpreet started wrestling under the watchful eyes of Hargobind Singh, who is now the head coach of the Indian Greco-Roman team.

The country's wrestlers had bagged three bronze on Tuesday. The five medal haul is the second best show by the Indian Greco-Roman wrestlers in the event after the 2020 championships in New Delhi where they had bagged five medals including a yellow metal and four bronze.

Meghalaya peg Kerala back with gritty draw

MARTIN JOSEPH @Kochi

MEGHALAYA put the brakes on Kerala's winning march in the Santosh Trophy with a thrilling 2-2 draw on Wednesday in what was a great endorsement for a competition that had lost some of its sheen due to to the emergence of the I-League and the Indian Super League. The game at the Manjeri Payyanad Football Stadium had everything. Capacity crowd, penalty miss, point-blank saves, gilt-edged opportunities and goals. Despite being the overwhelming favourites, Kerala's road to a ninth Santosh Trophy title was always going to be riddled with tricky challenges. While Bino George's side strolled to victory in the Group A opener against Rajasthan, the assignment against West Bengal was their first real test of the final round.

WITH HIS NEW DOCU-SERIES CALLED PADA PROJECT, MUSIC COMPOSER VASU DIXIT CELEBRATES FOLK MUSIC

LET'S TALK FOLK

A still from Tagaru

SANATH PRASAD

IT was during a high school dance drama event that Vasu Dixit picked up a liking for folk songs. Growing up in Mysuru also played a role as he evoked his passion for folk music. Over the years, he has also induced folk flavour in most of his musical performances, and his audience gets to see more of it now.

Dixit, in collaboration with digital music company Believe and NGO Snehadhara Foundation, has launched a new musical project called PaDa Project which aims to recognise and celebrate folk music in India. 'Pada' in Kannada means word and 'Pa' and 'Da' are also important swaras in Indian classical music. The project is a five-part docu-series featuring five folk artistes from different parts of India including Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Sikkim, Manipur and Meghalaya. Directed by Dixit himself, the project aims to recognise the several folk musicians across the country, starting with Karnataka. In fact, the musician has already released the first episode, Tagaru, featuring Mohan Kumar, a folk artiste from the Kadugalla tribal community from Tumkur.

Speaking to CE, Dixit explains, "The folk songs are not just forms of art but an identity. It represents their culture, occupation, and region which are deeply rooted in their ethos."

The artiste points out that he always had the idea of bringing folk music to the mainstream music scene. "I wanted to bring forward the least recognised ones in Southern India and North East India to the mainstream music scene but lacked financial support. Through this initiative, we want to tell the stories of folk artistes and musicians, and document the connection between music and the daily lifestyle of the folk community," he adds.

The project documents the folk artistes Sithirai Senana from Madurai, Mickma Tshering Lepcha from Sikkim, Dalrariti Kamaior from Shillong and Mangka Mayanglambam from Imphal. The series chronicles the folklore, how folk music and their occupation complement each other and also contextualises their work in the present times.

Dixit feels that the mega outreach of films has diminished the scope of folk music. "The film industry has grown leaps and bounds and most of the artistic work falls under the shadows of films, diminishing the scope of folk music. There are preconceived notions that folk music is a dying art and only the older generation practices them. Therefore, this project features many young artists in their 30s who are taking over the legacy of folk music," says Dixit, who adds that folk songs are always centered around the folk singer's lifestyle. "A folk artiste bases his song on real-life experiences and elements such as forest, water, floods, and banks very less on imagination."

During the project, Dixit also learnt about the vast differences and nuances that every folk community has such as the Southern folk artistes using cow skin on their instruments and the North East artistes using the sheep skin.

"The folk communities across India are very distinguished in their way. But the bottom line is all of them have a story to tell through their folk music. They are all deeply rooted in their lifestyle and that is what reflects even on their creative side," says Dixit, who is also planning a folk festival in Bengaluru called 'Folkluru' to bring different folk communities under one roof.

The upcoming episodes will be available on Vasu Dixit's YouTube channel.

> Through the PaDa Project, we want to tell the stories of folk artistes and musicians, and document the connection between music and the daily lifestyle of the folk community

Latha Puthanna's Spring-Summer collection Jasmine is all about hand-spun and hand-woven fabrics, ideal for the season

MONIKA MONALISA

IS there a better way to deal with India's tropical sunny climate than with beautiful, soft khadi? Fashion designer Latha Puthanna, who has been a pioneer in promoting rich fabrics inspired by Deccan history, has launched her Spring-Summer collection 2022 with khadi.

The collection named Jasmine, primarily comprises an off-white colour palette and is inspired by the light, breathable and elegant vibes of eco-friendly, hand-spun, and hand-woven fabrics discovered in a quaint village near Shimoga.

Aptly named, Puthanna says, jasmine reminds her of the warm summers. "The fragrance of jasmine is something that we immediately associate with summer. The flower is iconic, never goes out of fashion and is a staple in south Indian households. It has a soothing effect, just like this collection," explains Puthanna.

Experimenting with silk fabrics over the years, the veteran fashion designer always wanted to work with khadi. She found this was a way to reinvent herself, after 30 years in the industry.

"We wanted to use khadi and add our aesthetics to it. It's a very versatile fabric. Khadi can look ordinary and yet grand at the same time. I wanted to glamorise it. So, we teamed it up with organza and also added the cutwork to it, which brought in a very fresh look," she adds. The collection has an elaborate use of gota and embroidery work.

This salt-of-the-earth collection features a range of tops, tunics, sarees and blouses, shirts, skirts, salwars, and menswear, all tied together with jasmine motifs in shades of white, gold, and silver. "The ones in the collections are quite youthful. Many of the blouses have deep cuts which the youth like. One of the perks is you can either piece it together or be styled individually," says Puthanna. The collection starts at the range of ₹5,000.

In a time when fashion enthusiasts are trying to downsize their personal collection by picking versatility and going beyond trends, this collection ticks most of the boxes.

"Although the idea was to present khadi to be more than just office wears, this collection can be used for various occasions too . You can wear it for brunches to dinners or even to various occasions," explain Puthanna.

Looking to explore some hotspots to visit during the weekends? Here are some CE recommendations

In nature's lap

Mandaragiri Hills

IF you missed travelling during the festive weekend and want to make the most of your upcoming weekend, check out some of these places that are within 100km from the city.

① Mydala Lake/ Mandaragiri Hills

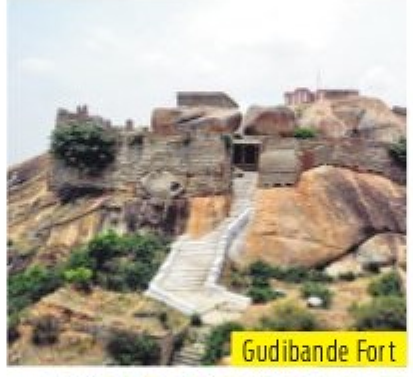
If you enjoy trekking, Mandaragiri Hills could be part of your weekend plan. Located about 60 km from Bengaluru, Mandagiri hilltop is sure to test your strength as you climb 430 stairs. You'll be welcomed with a bird's eye view of the expansive agricultural land, Mydala Lake and Pandithanahalli village. When you're up there, don't miss the four temples that are believed to be built around the 12th and 14th centuries, and are now getting a facelift.

② Muninagara Dam

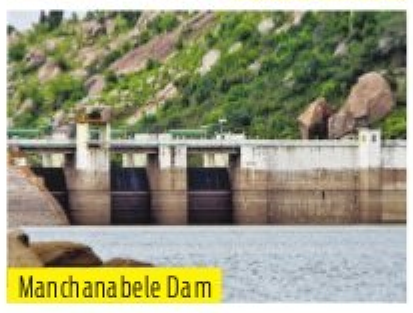
Don't be surprised if you can't find a dam there, but spot a bridge that leads to a lake and a series of hills. Warning: it might just be dominated by bikers or cyclists. Travel experts believe that the place grabbed attention after bike vloggers visited and left their viewers spellbound impressed. Hence it's given the name 'Bikers' Dam'. Located about 40 km from Bengaluru near Kanakapura, Muninagara is your destination for a quick drive to the lap of nature.

③ Makalidurga Trek

While some call it a hidden gem, others call it a trekker's paradise. If you are up for a long drive and a challenging trek, Makalidurga is ideal. Located about 60km from Bengaluru near Doddabalapura, the trek leads you to a ruined fort on the hillock that's named after the village Makalidurga. You will need a prior booking via Karnataka Eco Tourism website; priced at ₹250 per person.



Gudibande Fort



Manchanabele Dam

④ Manchanabele Dam

Located about 40km from Bengaluru in Ramanagara district, Manchanabele Dam is built on the water of the tranquil Arkavati River which is a tributary to Cauvery river. With an extensive spread of flora and fauna, the place is dotted with mesmerising biodiversity. The place is replete with different lush green trees and inhabited by a large number of enchanting birds. Don't forget to try out the lip-smacking Manchanabele dam fish fry at the nearby stalls!

⑤ Gudibande Fort

Located about 100km from Bengaluru near Chikkaballapura, this place is all about its heritage and lakes. Some of the nearby lakes include Bhairasagara and Vatadahosahalli lakes, which are en route to the fort. The Gudibande fort is about 400 years old. The fort houses seven levels with interconnecting escape routes for soldiers to flee during emergencies. On top of the fort is a Shiva temple which is believed to be one of the 108 Jyotirlingas. Travel experts also suggest that the fort's main feature is the rainwater harvesting system — it was believed that there were around 19 rock ponds at different levels of the fort. Tip: Carry food with you when visiting.

FIT BIT

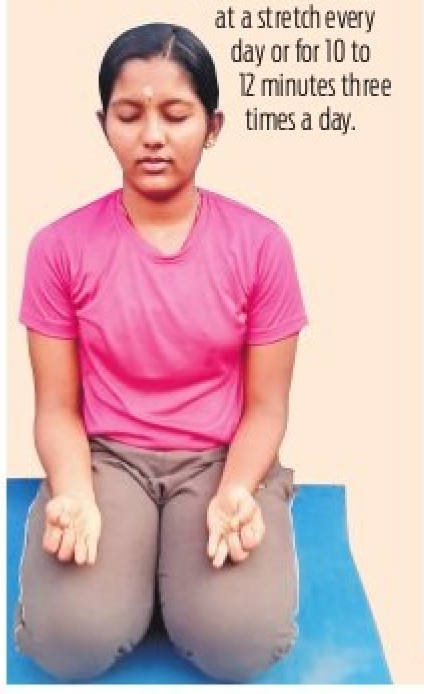
VAAYAN MUDRA

(VATA-KAARAK MUDRA)

This Mudra is very efficient in increasing Vata, which plays a significant role in controlling the nervous system and various bodily movements. In other words, it is an excellent mudra for people with Vata deficiency. In fact, these people can even use this mudra as a preventive measure to avoid diseases, However, this mudra should be done sparingly by people who have an excess of Vata.

STEPS

- Sit on the floor in a meditative posture like Padmasana, Siddhasana, Swastikasana, Vajrasana, etc., and place the hands on the thighs with palms facing upwards.
- Make sure your back, chest and head are straight.
- Close your eyes and take some deep breaths with the awareness of the breathing process.
- Fold your index and middle fingers, press it with your thumb. Rest of the two fingers should be kept extended.
- Removing all thoughts from the mind, focus it only on Om.
- Don't decrease or increase the speed of breath.
- Perform this pose for 35 minutes at a stretch every day or for 10 to 12 minutes three times a day.



BENEFITS

- This reduces excessive sweating, thirst and urination.
- It has therapeutic benefits for controlling high and low blood pressure.
- It is a boon for pregnant women.
- Helps to remove all urine-related diseases.
- It also helps in diabetes, spasm, and nightmares.
- Reduces laziness and drowsiness.
- Increases enthusiasm, initiative, and speed of thought.
- Diarrhoea can be controlled.
- It can be practised standing, sitting, or lying down. All mudras are effective when you do them between 4 am to 6 am.
- For best and efficient results, practice regularly for two months.

LIMITATIONS

- When doing this mudra, don't wear tight clothes, and don't press both fingers too hard.
- Best to avoid if you have anxiety or hypertension.
- If your Vata dosha is high, practice this moderately.
- People with extremely high blood pressure should avoid this.

FOR A COOL PREGNANCY

Pregnancy during summers can be tough but here are some ways you can ease it

DR JAYASHREE NAGARAJ BHASGI

TAKING care of oneself during pregnancy is crucial. However, when one is pregnant during the summertime, the heat can be quite discomforting. So, mothers must take special care.

Here are some of the challenges faced by pregnant women in summer:

Nausea and vomiting in early pregnancy

About 60-70 per cent of pregnant women face this. Excessive vomiting can lead to dehydration and weakness, leading to hospital visits.

Indigestion, bloating sensation, reduced appetite

The changes that take place during pregnancy contribute to the slow movement of the food through the food pipe, stomach and gut. There is also relaxation of the gut muscles and sphincters which cause regurgitation of acid and food, worsening heartburn. The growing pregnancy presses upwards on the stomach and worsens the discomfort.

Oedema

Fluid collection in the feet and legs occurs after the first three months of pregnancy. However, remember that excessive swelling or sudden swelling of the feet, legs, fingers and face may be a sign of high blood pressure. So, it is advisable to see your doctor if the swelling is disproportionate or does not go down with rest.

Shortness of breath

The growing uterus compresses the lungs and causes shortness of breath. During hot temperatures, this can increase the sense of suffocation felt by the woman, making them breathless, especially when lying down.

Feeling hot

Some pregnant women complain of feeling hot and sweaty most of the time. This could be because pregnant women have 1 to 1.5 litres of extra blood in their body, compared to their non-pregnant counterparts.

Now, here are some tips for a 'cooler' pregnancy:

Stay hydrated

To fight the heat, the number one tip is good internal hydration. This can be done through ample consumption of liquids, mainly water but also fruit juice or intake of fresh vegetables with high water content. Some excessively sweet drinks can cause a sensation of thirst shortly after ingestion, therefore avoid them much as possible.

Cold showers

To withstand high temperatures in summer, bathe or shower at room temperature water. Although cold water showers are tempting, they tend to increase body temperature because our body has to work to adapt to the ambient temperature. A cold shower at dawn or just before bed will refresh you for several hours. If one is not used to it, do it gradually — starting with the shower head on your feet, legs and then your arms. Get to the belly last, while massaging it in circular motions.

The right clothing

Clothes should not be tight and should facilitate breathing and movement. Opt for natural fabrics that release perspiration and not store sweat. Wear light clothes that allows the skin to breathe too.

Moderate sporting activity

Do not put physical exercises aside unless the same has been advised by your doctor. Working on the elasticity of the muscles and tendons will allow you to better withstand the sluggishness and exhaustion associated with progressive weight gain. Practice exercises that improve blood circulation that tends to be disrupted during pregnancy. Walking and swimming are the most recommended activities.

Light and frequent meals

Do not dine too late, and eat light. Breakfast must be complete and nutritious. Avoid nibbling during the next three hours. It is best to have five meals a day. Of these, at least one or two must contain fruit and vegetables. Do not forget to consume light proteins.

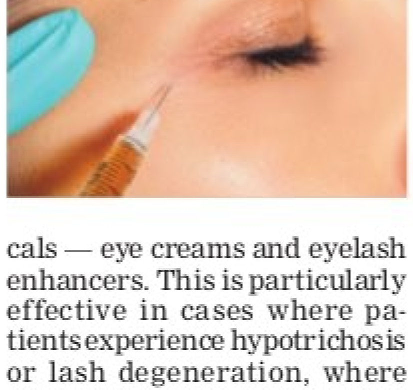
(The writer is a senior consultant, obstetrics & gynaecology at Fortis Hospital, Richmond Road)

REST AND RELAX

Take a nap one or two times a day, in the shade and open the windows so that the fresh air enters the room. Floating in the water is also a good way to relax. Relaxation through a total disconnection from everything that disturbs you is beneficial. Finally, see your doctor regularly as scheduled and remember to mention any unusual symptoms that you may have noticed.

Worried about the skin around your eye ageing? Here's everything you need to know about periorbital rejuvenation

EYE TO EYE



DR SUVINA ATTAVAR

Beauty may not solely be skin-deep anymore. So, taking good care of the overall upkeep and well-being of your skin, more specifically the sensitised areas, especially if ageing gracefully is a goal that you are striving towards.

That said, with persistent concerns around ageing skin the world over, the lure and relevance of periorbital (periocular) rejuvenation is definitely on the rise.

The periorbital region — which entails the area surrounding the eyeball but falls within the orbit periocular space — of the face plays a vital role in the creation of a perception of ageing. It's compounded by significant concerns like periorbital wrinkles, atrophy, melanosis, and prominent tear troughs.

Periocular rejuvenation can be broadly classified into two types — non-invasive rejuvenation and surgical rejuvenation. Recent technology makes it possible for the process to be a minimally invasive scar-less one, with prominent options reportedly being chemical peeling, mechanical and laser resurfacing techniques, collagen injections, dermabrasion, growth factor concentration, neuromodulators soft tissue fillers, as well as energy-based modalities.

Health concerns about the rejuvenation of the periocular region are largely tackled through hugely popular topicals — eye creams and eyelash enhancers. This is particularly effective in cases where patients experience hypotrichosis or lash degeneration, where they get lighter and thinner with advancing age. The problem is often combated by the use of an FDA-approved product.

Dermal fillers are also great at shaping the eyes, with the tear trough being the most common area for filler injections. Hyaluronic acid is often pegged as a saviour, given how it offers control to tweak results using hyaluronidase, if the results are not optimal. These products are reportedly often meshed with botulinum toxins to treat the ailments like glabella, crow's feet and lateral brow.

Reports have cited how it is always a better idea to space it out between treatments for optimal effects. Waiting around for a week or two for botulinum toxin injection before injecting the filler is strongly advised by experts.

One must tread with caution as far as injections are concerned, more so if it involves injecting into the glabellar lines without pressuring the neurovascular bundle, lest it can lead to serious implications such as necrosis.

While the severity of your condition is determined by age and the ailment, minimal photodamage with mild rhytides is suggested which should respond to topical acid therapy. Moderate wrinkling and photodamage usually call for more intensive treatments like collagen injections or YAG laser resurfacing.

Laser resurfacing, inclusive of both ablative and non-ablative lasers, are popular options to choose from. Laser resurfacing is largely effective for concerns related to skin thinning, dark circles reduction, deep-rooted scars and wrinkles.

Generally, a series of treatments are recommended before optimal results are achieved. Prior consultation with your physician is mandatory before opting for either or an amalgamation of the procedures. Different treatments target different areas of the eyes, so it is best advised to seek medical assistance before deciding a treatment that is suited for your skin type.

IIT Madras develops VR tools to tackle maternal & newborn deaths in India

Researchers at the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Madras developed tools using virtual reality (VR), gaming, cloud, and Artificial Intelligence (AI) or Machine Learning (ML), to help improve newborn and maternal health in India. Using these technologies, the researchers aim to train the health workers at the primary health cares (PHCs). The training will begin from PHC health workers in Tamil Nadu under National Health Mission and will later be scaled to other states where neonatal health and maternal health is high. An IIT Madras team at the Centre of Excellence on Virtual Reality (VR) and Haptics called Experiential Technology Innovation Center (XTIC) identified that skill training of the health workers was a challenge that India was facing. Infant Mortality is the biggest contributor is Neonatal Mortality Rate (NMR) which is death within 28 days of birth. Around 40 babies are lost per every 1,000 births. —IANS

'I HAVE LEARNT EVERYTHING FROM PRASHANTH NEEL'

A SHARADHAA

It's been a week since the release of KGF: Chapter 2, and the craze for Rocky Bhai is only growing by the day. The pan-India film, starring Yash and directed by Prashanth Neel, is getting an unprecedented response across languages. And the film's editor, Ujwal Kulkarni, is all of 20 years old. Ujwal, who hails from Gulbarga, came to Bengaluru with no big dreams. However, his talent and a bit of luck landed him the opportunity of a lifetime. A fan of the KGF franchise, he did fan-made edits that impressed Prashanth Neel, who was so convinced that he made him the editor of KGF Chapter 2. And then, there has been no looking back.

"My first editing stint was for my brother, Vinay, an aspiring actor," remembers Ujwal. "I began shooting and editing videos for him and was drawn into the world of editing moving images. My friend Shashank encouraged me to pursue a career in Bengaluru, and then, I got in touch with a few technicians. I worked with Mufti editor Harish Komme for two months. That's when I made the fan-made edits for KGF: Chapter 1, which luckily got noticed by Prashanth. I was called for an interview and that's how I entered the world of Rocky Bhai officially."

Ujwal Kulkarni

To begin his career with a huge project like KGF: Chapter 2 is due to "sheer good fortune and love for the KGF franchise", he says. "I was the youngest technician in the crew and was given abundant care. I couldn't believe my eyes that stars like Yash and Prashanth Neel were sitting in front of me, and that I was working with them!" he beams.

The director made his process easy, he says. "Prashanth had everything planned out in his head. All I had to do was read his mind and understand his storytelling style. We had planned the non-linear editing pattern during the writing process, and I simply stuck to his plans," says the editor.

Ujwal has spent about two years on the film, and during this period, Prashanth was always with him as a pillar of support. "I can't explain what it meant to me, but his presence was crucial in keeping me energetic and enthusiastic. I learnt some valuable lessons about cinema and life from him. I learnt that we must dedicate ourselves to a work till it is completed."

When not working, Ujwal likes to listen to music and party. He is also a big fan of director Christopher Nolan and the Narcos franchise. "I came across all of this through Prashanth Sir's suggestions. He has made me," signs off the young editor who will next be editing another film for Prashanth Neel, the Prabhas-starrer, Salaar.

'MAAYE & COMPANY WILL BE SPECIAL FILM IN MY CAREER'

...says Arjun Kishore Chandra, who is excited to play a positive and a negative shade in the same film

Arjun Kishore Chandra

CE FEATURES

ARJUN Kishore Chandra is a multi-talented personality, who enjoys juggling between acting stints, music albums, directing short films, and dubbing for films. The actor, who was featured in a psychological music video Trippiyana, and marked his debut in a feature film titled Life 360.

Arjun is excited to talk about his second film Maaye & Company. The film is billed to be a crime drama, and the actor admits that it is going to be a special film in his career. "The film, directed by Sandeep Kumar, allowed me to do both a positive and negative character simultaneously," says Arjun, who plays a struggling actor. He has completed shooting for Maaye & Company, which is now in the post-production phase.

"The director had many fresh ideas which helped me prepare for the character, and I have particularly worked upon my gestures and mannerism for this film," he adds.

His next titled Dose is an equally interesting subject, he says. "Dose is a suspense thriller. The film is directed by Dananjay Didaga. For the role, I had to observe real-life characters for which I am frequenting public places, bus stops, market areas, hospitals, etc. I'm also taking acting references by watching a lot of English films. Having worked in the direction department has helped me to stay focused," he says.

EXAM THEME SONG FROM YOGARAJ BHAT'S GAALIPATA 2 TO BE OUT TODAY

CE FEATURES

Gaalipata 2, the much-awaited sequel to Yogaraj Bhat's 2008 romantic drama, is gearing up for a release in June. Now, the team has announced that the first song from the film will be released on April 21.

Titled Exam, the song is composed by Arjun Janya, sung by Vijay Prakash, and has lyrics penned by Yogaraj Bhat. The music composer and director have also rendered their voices for the track.

Original cast members Ganesh, Diganth, and veteran Anant Nag return for the sequel, which also stars Pawan Kumar in the lead. The film stars Nishvika Naidu, Sharmiela Mandre, Samyuktha Menon, and Vaibhavi Shandilya as the female leads, and also features Bullet Prakash in a pivotal role. With cinematography by Santhosh Rai Pathaje, Gaalipata 2 is backed by Ramesh Reddy under the Suraj Productions banner.

A FEW GOOD LAWYERS

SHILAJIT MITRA

DIRECTOR Shefali Bhushan grew up in a family of lawyers. Her father, Shanti Bhushan, is a veteran lawyer and former law minister of India; her brother is lawyer and activist Prashant Bhushan. Proximity to the legal profession has shaped Shefali's worldview. Naturally for her, onscreen courtrooms—especially in mainstream Hindi movies, with their gavels and comical wigs—held little appeal. As a writer-filmmaker, she shopped around for a few years with the idea of an authentic legal show. "I wanted to keep it realistic," she says, "from the arguments and legal points of view to the depiction of courtrooms and procedures."

The result is Guilty Minds, a 10-episode drama series premiering this week on Amazon Prime Video. Shefali has co-directed the show with Jayant Digambar Somalkar; Manav Bhushan, a biomedical engineer with a law degree, and Deeksha Gujral, a human rights lawyer, are their co-writers. Together, they optioned some 20-25 real-life cases, the strongest among them forming the crux of a single episode.

Shriya Pilgaonkar

The protagonists, played by Varun Mitra and Shriya Pilgaonkar, are young lawyers in Delhi. They fight cases ranging from AI legislation to the water scarcity in Maharashtra. They're ideologically opposed: while Deepak, Varun's character, works for a law firm, Shriya's Kashaf leads a pro bono team.

Varun Mitra

"Deepak is expressive, out-there, aggro," shares Varun. "What I enjoyed about playing this character is that I didn't have to stick to one brief. He has an over-the-top quality but can shape-shift according to the situation."

By contrast, Shriya, playing the idealist, had to pitch her character differently. "Kashaf is driven by her passion to help people. She's stubborn and moralistic. I couldn't judge her or let my own beliefs impinge on the character. So it took me a while to find that rhythm."

As part of the prep, the actors visited district and high courts ("Where is the drama?" Shriya remembers wondering on day one). They also spoke to practicing lawyers across India, each with their own style, tonality, and politics. "One of them told me to always work the other side first," Varun recalls. "It's fun to anticipate how your opponent is going to argue and build your case from that."

Jayant says they picked the cases based on relevance and contemporaneity. The first episode, for instance, tackles consent and rape. There's one about a driverless car, and another on the influence of Virtual Reality gaming. Many of the futuristic ideas came from co-writer Manav, who runs the tech startup Fourth Frontier. Shefali hopes that, because there's no AI-specific legislation in India, the show will be 'food for thought' for lawmakers.

Shefali Bhushan

Everyone we speak to from the Guilty Minds team points to a single episode as their best. It's about a drought-hit village near Jalna, in Maharashtra, where protesters clash with a hoggish Cola company. The actors, representing various sides, came to euphoric blows. Varun calls it one of the most emotional experiences from the shoot. "There was a mad energy on set. We were buzzing by the end of it."

"Normally, we brief the junior artistes sitting in the courtroom," Jayant says. "But on that day, we didn't have to. People started responding on their own." Namrata Sheth, who plays a Harvard-return lawyer in the series, and was present in that scene, confirms this. "The energy was palpable that day… it left an impact on all of us."

Guilty Minds has a refreshingly young cast. There are, however, many veterans who grace the screen, from Kulbhushan Kharbanda and Girish Kulkarni to Shakti Kapoor and Satish Kaushik. Satish, whom it is easy to imagine as a lawyer (he played one in last year's Kaagaz) is instead cast as a suspect. His character, Bhalla, is a liquor baron accused in the murder of a young boy. Satish says he drew on 'businessmen-types' to flesh out the role. "My character is entirely power-drunk. He has plush cars and plays golf. This also completes my trio of Punjabi names, after Handa in Bloody Brothers and Chaddha in Sharmaji Namkeen."

Guilty Minds streams on Prime Video from April 22.
